Watch Out; Solons Plan To Simplify Tax Laws Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six months after changing the nation's tax laws in a way that resulted in a record number of taxpayer errors, Congress is talking "simplification" again. This time, the lawmakers say, they really mean it.

The House has passed and the Senate Finance Committee is considering a new method of tax-computation that the Treasury Department says will make the annual taxpaying process easier for 96 per cent of the population. It will result in a longer but far simpler tax form, the experts say.

The changes are part of a big tax-cut bill, including $50-perperson rebates, that the finance committee expects to approve this week.

The full Senate, meanwhile, hopes to complete work on a bill that would require senators to disclose their finances and would limit the income they could earn above their congressional salaries.

And in the House, debate begins Wednesday on a hotly disputed bill that would allow unions to picket an entire construction site, even though they have grievances with only one subcontractor. Similar legislation was vetoed last year by then-President Gerald R. Ford. President Carter has said he would sign such a measure.

The tax bill being written by the Senate Finance Committee originally was proposed by Carter mainly as a method of stimulating the economy. But he also recommended simplification of individual tax-filing after the Internal Revenue Service reported a sharp increase in errors on returns filed this year.

Police, Deputies Team Up For Arrests

Alert teamwork on the part of the Circleville Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's office has resulted in the arrest of two men believed responsible for an early Sunday morning break-in at the Super-X Drug Store in the Lancaster Pike Shopping Center.

According to the report, Ptl. Ken Henn and Ptl. Don Barton were dispatched to the Super-X Store at approximately 4:28 a.m. Sunday morning.

The culprits had smashed the glass from the front door of the store to gain entry. Once inside, the report states

Wintry Air Marks Spring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weather conditions in much of the nation resembled those normally associated with winter, despite the official arrival of spring Sunday.

Snow fell overnight in parts of New England, Iowa, Wisconsin, Colorado, Montana and Washington.

A winter storm watch was extended through tonight in Lower Michigan.

Travel advisories were continued for parts of South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois, but warnings to motorists were dropped as snowfall slowed in southern New England and Wisconsin.

Rain was reported overnight along the northern Pacific coast, northern Florida and Kansas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from zero at Valentine, Neb., to 78 at Key West, Fla.

Rain was to fall today from the Mississippi Valley to the Ohio Valley, Appalachians and south Atlantic coast. Snow was expected in Iowa and the Great Lakes Region. Showers, with snow at higher elevations, was predicted for the north Pacific coast and Montana.

A large number of those errors are mathematical mistakes traceable to the computation of the standard deduction, used by those who don't itemize deductions. The simplification that Congress expects to pass this year would do away with that computation in almost all cases.

None of the changes in the current tax bill would affect 1976 tax returns, which must be filed by April 15 of this year. The simplification changes would be used a year from now when 1977 returns are filed.

The key part of the proposed simplification would, in effect, do away with the separate standard deduction. The deduction would be built directly into the tax tables, along with the personal exemptions and the $35-perperson tax credit.

As a result, a person who does not itemize deductions would find out how much tax he owes just by looking at a table. The only factor in determining what table to use would be the number of exemptions he claims.

The only computations would be to subtract any moving expenses, employ business expenses and tax-free retirement account payments from total income to arrive at adjusted gross income.

The changes also would simplify things for the 31 per cent who now itemize deductions. Their only computation above that required of non-itemizers would be to determine how much their itemized deductions exceed the standard deduction.

that they opened the drug safe, then fled the scene.

An intensive search of the area was started. Included were Henn and Barton, along with Ptl. Ron Thompson, Sgt. Larry Pontious, and Capt. Jerry Smallwood of the C.P.D., and several deputies from the Pickaway County Sheriff's Office.

The officers apprehended one subject a short time later on Griner Avenue. He was identified as Bobby Gene Anderson, 20, 249 Renner Court, Cincinnati.

The report states that Anderson's clothing was wet and soiled at the time of his arrest. He was tracked through the Pickaway County Fairgrounds before his apprehension on Griner Ave. He was also barefoot at the time he was apprehended, and a pair of tennis shoes that was found on the roof of a nearby residence matched footprints that were found in the Super-X Store.

Anderson appeared in Circleville Municipal Court on Monday morning. He is scheduled for a preliminary hearing on Thursday. His bond was set at $15,000. He was charged with breaking and entering, vandalism, and safecracking.

At approximately 10:15 Monday morning, while on routine patrol, Deputy Nick Franklin of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Office observed a subject matching the description of the second person involved in the burglary. He radioed for assistance from Deputies William Carmean and Jim Deal, and along with Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Detective Don Thompson the apprehension was made.

The subject, identified as James Martin Wilkening, 30, of Cincinnati, was brought to the Sheriff's office, where he was turned over to Sgt. Pontious and charged with breaking and entering. According to Pontious, other charges may be pending against Wilkening.

Son Also Loses As Voters Revolt

Election Ousts Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi probably will resign today following the loss of her seat in Parliament and reverses suffered by her Congress party in the Indian general election, official sources reported.

Mrs. Gandhi's foes already had begun talks to try to put together a government.

With returns in for 283 of the 542 seats in the lower house of Parliament, the new Janata (People's) party had 135 and could count on the support of nine more. Mrs. Gandhi's Congress party, which won two-third of the seats in the 1971 election, had only 103. Independents, regional groups and a handful of minor parties accounted for the rest.

Hours after the announcement that she had lost her own seat, the 59-year-old prime minister ordered the end of the state of emergency, under which she imprisoned thousands of her opponents, and the restoration of all civil liberties.

Proclaimed in June 1975 to keep her in office after her conviction on a charge of campaign irregularities, the emergency sparked a voter revolt that contributed to her downfall, the defeat of her son Sanjay in his first bid for office, and the eclipse of the ruling dynasty her father, the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, established 30 years ago.

The chief contenders to succeed her are two former leaders of the Congress party who broke with her, Morarji Desai and Jagjivan Ram.

Desai, now 81, was Mrs. Gandhi's deputy prime minister in 1969 when she split the party in a struggle for power with conservative leaders. He and other conservatives formed the Opposition Congress, and in January it merged with three other opposition parties to form the Janata.

Ram, the 68-year-old leader of India's Untouchable caste, was the agriculture minister in Mrs. Gandhi's last cabinet. He broke with her last month and formed the Congress for Democracy, which won seven seats in the early returns.

There was speculation that Mrs. Gandhi's defeat would produce more defectors from her Congress who would rally behind Desai or Ram.

Although separate parties, the Janata and Ram's Congress campaigned together and pledged to work together in the new Parliament.

No major shift in foreign policy is expected since the Janata's manifesto pledged adherence to India's traditional policy of nonalignment "free from any attachment to any power bloc." The party also pledged to restore all civil liberties and repeal the legislation Mrs. Gandhi put through during the emergency restricting freedom of the press and the independence of the judiciary.

Mrs. Gandhi lost her seat in Uttar Pradesh by 55,000 votes to Socialist leader Raj Narain, whom she had defeated in 1971 by 110,000 votes. Her 30-year-old son Sanjay, running for office for the first time after taking over leadership of the youth wing of the Congress party, lost the district adjoining his mother's by 75,844 votes.

Costs Of Congress Spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Items from a billion dollar budget:

—In the 1955 edition of the Congressional Directory, the staff of the House Agriculture Committee takes up eight lines. In the 1976 edition, it takes up 39 lines.

—The Congressional Budget Office, created partly to help hold the line on governmental costs, has a staff of 208 persons. Eighty of them make more than $27,000 a year.

—Two offices in a House building are being converted to Ways and Means Committee hearing rooms. The estimated cost is $200,000.

These straws in the winds of congressional spending are part of what former President Gerald R. Ford was talking about in his farewell State of the Union message Jan. 12 when he said the number of congressional employees in the 1970s "has increased substantially, although the membership of the Congress remains at 535."

Ford noted the total budget for the legislative branch now exceeds $1 billion for the first time in history and said: "Congress now costs the taxpayers more than a million dollars per member."

But most members of Congress reject the title "billion dollar Congress," arguing that nearly three of every 10 dollars in that billion is spent for purposes other than running Congress.

Legislators who review the Congress' budget also say they vigorously try to keep down expenditures. Some members of Congress dispute this.

Deputy Comptroller Robert B. Keller, in a Feb. 25 letter to Sen. Walter D. Huddleston, D-Ky., said $765 million of the $1.05 billion legislative branch budget is for Congress' operation. Huddleston is chairman of the Senate subcommittee on legislative appropriations.

Other items include such things as $10 million for the Library of Congress to prepare brittle materials for microfilming; $10.3 million for General Accounting Office branches in Frankfurt, Bangkok, Panama City and Honolulu, which check on U.S. spending abroad, and $1.3 million for the U.S. Botanical Gardens.

However you slice it, it's part of the legislative branch budget. And it is immune from budget cutting by the president's Office of Management and Budget. The only review is by Congress itself.

Much of the spending is also exempt from the kind of auditing the General Accounting Office applies to the executive branch.

Comptroller General Elmer Staats cited "statutory prohibitions against questioning certain types of transactions" by Congress' and in testimony before a House subcommittee said his office can audit congressional committees, but not accounts of individual members.

Staats said such audits don't go beyond official records to determine whether expenditures were made as reported.

Keller disputed Ford's implication that Congress' costs are growing faster than executive branch costs. He said the congressional hike in the current budget is $70 million, or 8 per cent, compared with a 9 per cent increase in President Carter's over-all spending proposals.

Podgorny To Stir Up Africans

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nikolai Podgorny left Moscow today on a major Soviet diplomatic mission to southern Africa where he will meet leaders of black political and guerrilla movements fighting white regimes, diplomatic sources said.

Podgorny flew first to Tanzania. Cuban President Fidel Castro had left Tanzania hours before on his way to Zambia and Mozambique, and there was no indication the two men would meet.

From Tanzania, Podgorny is also scheduled to go to Zambia and Mozambique, two more of the so-called "front-line" black states supporting black nationalist movements in Rhodesia, South-West Africa and South Africa.

The Soviet leader was expected to warn the Africans to be suspicious of U.S. and British attempts to foster a gradual transfer of power to the black majorities in southern Africa. Moscow has called for the immediate transfer of power by the most effective means, and African diplomats say there have been promises of military aid for the guerrillas.

"The fate of southern Africa will not be settled on the banks of the Thames or the Potomac," Anatoly Gromyko, head of the Soviets' Africa Institute and son of Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, wrote in an article last week. He said the Western powers are patrons of the Rhodesian and South African regimes because Western firms reap "the highest profits in the world" from investments in southern Africa.

Diplomatic sources said Podgorny planned to stay in Tanzania until March 26, to visit Zambia March 26-29, and then to go to Mozambique.

Castro said Sunday in Dar es Salaam that he would like to increase Cuba's aid to Tanzania, but "our resources are preoccupied in Angola," the former Portuguese colony where Cuban and Soviet arms helped Marxist forces to victory over pro-Western rivals in a civil war last year.

Smoke Detectors Enjoy Boom

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

A growing number of Americans are installing smoke detectors in their homes to provide an early warning system in case of fire.

The National Fire Prevention and Control Administration says 33 states already have regulations requiring the use of smoke alarms, usually in new houses, mobile homes and developments. Other states and some cities are considering similar rules.

The agency says it would like to see the devices in 25 per cent of all American homes by 1980 and in 75 per cent by 1990. About eight million smoke detectors were sold last year, up from only 50,000 in 1972.

Smoke detectors work by sensing the rising smoke from a fire and sounding an alarm loud enough to wake even heavy sleepers. They can detect smoke far from the origin of a fire and often will sound the alarm before flames are visible.

As the popularity of smoke detectors has grown, so has the number of models and brands on the market, making it more difficult for consumers to choose.

You should make sure you select a detector which has been approved by one of several major testing laboratories. There is no shortage of such detectors. Underwriters Laboratories Inc. says 98 brands of smoke alarms meet its standards. Prices for the detectors generally range from $20 to $70. Extra features such as test buttons are included on the more expensive models.

There are two basic types of smoke detectors: photoelectric and ionization chamber.

The photoelectric smoke detector contains a light bulb and a photocell. When smoke enters the detector, light from the beam is reflected from smoke particles into the photocell, triggering the alarm.

The ionization variety contains a small radiation source that produces electrically charged air molecules called ion. The presence of these ions allows a small electric current to flow in the chamber. When smoke particles enter, they attach themselves to the ions, reducing the flow of current. The change in the current sets off the alarm.

According to the fire prevention and control unit, "Both types of detectors are equally effective in the home." Ionization detectors generally will react more quickly to flaming fires; photoelectric detectors will generally respond faster to smoldering fires.

Ionization detectors generally operate on batteries. You have greater freedom of choice when it comes to deciding where to place the detector, but you also have to replace the batteries. Replacement batteries generally cost between $2 and $10.

Photoelectric detectors usually run on household current. They may be plugged into a wall outlet or wired permanently into your home's electric system. The permanent wiring should be done by an electrician and costs about $25 to $50. Like the battery-operated alarms, the photoelectric detectors include a device — usually a light — to indicate that the power is functioning.

Further information on smoke detectors is available in a free Commerce Department pamphlet, "Smoke Detectors: What they are and how they work." Write to the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

There will be a 90 per cent chance of rain or snow tonight with a low near 30, and there is a 30 per cent chance of snow or rain tomorrow with a high near 45. The high temperature Saturday was 44 with a low of 38 and the high Sunday was 46 with a low of 25.

Carter, Fukuda Undertake Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Japan's Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda, newcomers to the international scene, are opening two days of talks on global economic and security issues.

A White House ceremony featuring military honors was scheduled today for Fukuda, who is here on an official visit.

Carter, who took office less than a month after Fukuda, has repeatedly stated that close consultation with Tokyo is a matter of highest priority for his administration.

The Carter-Fukuda talks are expected to focus on bilateral economic issues and on preparations for the May economic summit in London involving the United States, Japan and other industrial democracies.

The President also:

- Called a meeting of his Cabinet and invited Vice President Walter Mondale and farmers from five states to lunch to mark American Agriculture Day.

- The farmers are Jose Hinjose of Edcouh, Tex.; Homer Foster of Merville, Iowa; Tom Davis of Coulee City, Wash.; W. Robert Hawrigan of Fairfield, Vt., and James Frazier of Bucksport, S.C.

- Readied a comprehensive election

law revision plan for presentation to Congress on Tuesday, featuring what one administration official called "universal voter registration."

One administration source said the proposal deals with the electoral college and public subsidies for House and Senate campaigns, as well as voter registration.

- Is expected to receive a visit at the White House this week from former President Gerald Ford. "Exactly when it's going to be I can't say," an administration source said Sunday night.

One possibility for discussion is energy. Ford and Mondale are honorary co-chairman of the "Alliance to Save Energy," and Ford has endorsed the concept of Carter's proposed Energy Department.

- Taught Sunday school and attended services t First Baptist Church, where 9-year-old daughter Amy's nanny, Mary Fitzpatrick, joined and asked to be baptized.

- Announced that he met for 3½ hours Friday night with former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger as presidential advisers worked on negotiating positions for strategic arms limitation talks.

FBI's Kent Report Has Few Surprises

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The FBI has released the first part of its 5,000-page investigative file on the 1970 confrontation between national guardsmen and students at Kent State University.

However, the Akron Beacon Journal reported Sunday that findings in the report reveal little new information about the case.

Virtually all of the significant information in the closely held file has been disclosed in other forums—two federal court trials, the Scranton Commission hearings and U.S. Justice Department memoranda leaked or released to the press.

In response to a Freedom of Information request lodged by Knight Newspapers more than two years ago, FBI Director Clarence Kelley has authorized the release of 1,050 pages of the bureau's preliminary findings in the campus shootings.

Four students were killed and nine wounded by guardsmen during a campus antiwar demonstration on May 4, 1970. The shootings capped a turbulent weekend of both on-campus and off-campus disorders, in the wake of the U.S. invasion of Cambodia on April 30 of that year.

The first phase of the FBI's investigation, as detailed in the file released this week, covered the six-day period immediately following the shootings.

Kelley said the FBI will release the rest of the information in the file "as it is processed."

The file reinforces doubts about the accuracy of eyewitness accounts and provides dramatic replays of how terror and fatigue combined to distort the guardsmen's judgment and perception of the scene.

Within hours after the shootings on May 4, the FBI, at the behest of then-Asst. Atty. Gen. for Civil Rights, Jerris Leonard, mounted a massive investigation.

The file shows that scores of agents from the bureau's Buffalo, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Knoxville, Pittsburgh, Springfield, Ill., Akron and Cleveland offices were ordered to Kent.

Out of a series of interviews in the six days after the shootings, the bureau drew a rough picture of what happened.

Most significantly, agents identified almost all of the guardsmen who shot their rifles and pistols in the 13-second fusillade that killed and wounded the students.

Brain Change By 'Grass' Said False

CHICAGO (AP) — There is no evidence that heavy marijuana smoking changes the structure of the brain or central nervous system, two research groups conclude, despite earlier evidence that part of the brain wasted away under prolonged smoking.

The new studies, carried out independently, are reported in the March 21 issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association.

The earlier study was reported in 1971 in Lancet, a British medical journal, in which researchers testing 10 young men who were heavy users of marijuana found evidence of atrophy in the brain.

The British study, conducted by Dr. A.M.G. Campbell of Bristol Royal United Hospitals and his colleagues, was done with an X-ray technique involving injection of air or gas to outline portions of the brain.

The new studies involved a recently developed X-ray technique, called computerized transaxial tomography, in which no gas injection is needed to outline sections of the brain as the head is scanned.

One was conducted by Dr. Ben Co, of the Washington University school of medicine in St. Louis, and by Dr. Donald Goodwin, of the University of Kansas school of medicine in Kansas City, Kan., and their colleagues.

The second was carried out by a team of Harvard medical school researchers headed by Dr. John Kuehnle.

Socialist-Communists Win French Election

PARIS (AP) — The Socialist-Communist drive to win control of the French National Assembly next year picked up steam from runoff local elections in which the leftist alliance won a majority of the popular vote and control of 70 per cent of France's larger cities.

Sunday's defeat was the biggest ever suffered by the conservative-centrist coalition, forged by the late President Charles de Gaulle after he established the Fifth Republic 19 years ago. It opened a year of hard political fighting in preparation for the National Assembly elections scheduled for March 1978.

"There's a strong wind blowing, and the country has sensed it," said Socialist leader Francois Mitterrand.

"I don't say victory in the future is a sure thing, but it's certainly a good sign for the future," said Communist party leader Georges Marchais. "They've been saying for years that the left in power means the Apocalypse, but the people don't believe that anymore. We talk about what we're going to do and nobody gets scared.

"Premier Raymond Barre and the government ran a demented campaign saying voting for the left equals collectivism. It doesn't work any more."

The left came out of the local voting on the past two Sundays controlling 156 of the 221 French cities with more than 30,000 population and 51 per cent of the total vote.

The moderates and conservatives who make up the National Assembly majority of President Valery Giscard d'Estaing got 47 per cent of the vote and kept 66 cities, including Toulouse, Strasbourg, Nancy, Metz and Bordeaux. Eighteen other cities went to parties and candidates who usually vote with the government.

The Socialists won control of 82 cities, the Communists 71 and other leftist groups not affiliated with them got three. The most impressive leftist wins were in Nantes and Rennes, conservative areas where the Socialists took control, and in LeMans and St. Etienne, where the Communists won.

Judge Denies Bias Ruling Inescapable

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. Duncan disputes critics who claim he had no real choice but to find the state and Columbus city school boards guilty of fostering segregation in public schools.

The 49-year-old judge said that despite the trend of desegregation decisions, "in any case that involves civil rights, if the plaintiffs don't produce a good case, they're not going to get the decision. I have no reservations about that."

Duncan's remarks were made in an interview with The Associated Press—his first since ruling two weeks ago that state and local school officials are responsible for segregation in the 96,000-student system, Ohio's second largest school district.

Duncan declined to comment specifically on his decision, but admitted that "it was the toughest decision of my life" although "as far as the law is concerned, I haven't broken any new ground."

Duncan, appointed by former President Nixon as the first black federal judge in Ohio, described himself as a "constitutionalist" who believes that the law should be applied equally.

"As long as the orderly procedures of the court are followed, I've done my job," he said. "I have inner peace. The chips can fall where they may."

"I have a great amount of concern for the impact of my decisions, but judges don't make law," he continued. "We find out what it is and apply it."

River Cleanup Plans OK'd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirteen of 21 federal dam and river cleanup projects slated for construction in Ohio have been approved following an ongoing review by the Carter Administration, according to the office of Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio.

Glenn's office Saturday issued a list of 13 projects given a green light as "exempt from further evaluation" in the review of U.S. Army Corps of Engineers projects ordered earlier this year by President Carter.

The review has led to elimination of 19 federal projects in other states.

Of eight other projects still under review, the largest is the Gallipolis Locks and Dam, shared with West Virginia. The Corps' budget request for engineering and design work on that project was $1.4 million.

The 13 projects announced by Glenn as approved are: Point Place, West Harbor, Alum Creek Lake, Caesar Creek Lake, Chillicothe, Cuyahoga River Basin, East Fork Lake, Huron Harbor, Lakeview Park, Mill Creek, Muskingum River Lakes, Newark and Willow Is. locks and dam.

Budget requests in fiscal 1978 for the 13 projects total $22 million, Glenn's office said.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, beginning the week on an uninspired note.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped nearly 2 points in early trading, but gainers took a slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market's weak showing last Thursday and Friday had dampened buying interest.

They also said traders were waiting to see what eventual form economic-stimulus legislation now before Congress would take.

Today's early prices included Bankamerica, up ¼ at 26½; Eastman Kodak, down ¾ at 70½; and Merrill Lynch, off ¼ at 19.

Merrill Lynch said last week its first quarter earnings were "not going to be very good" because of slack securities trading volume so far this year.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 3.82 loss to 961.02, reducing its gain for the week to 13.30 points.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 7-6 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume came to 19.84 million shares, against 20.70 million on Thursday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .09 to 55.36.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .26 at 112.46.

Prices paid to farmers by Pickaway Grain were:

Ear Corn	2.30
Shelled Corn	2.35
Wheat	2.58
Oats	1.90
Beans	8.29

Hog prices net, were paid by Producers Livestock Assn. today as follows.

Seventy-five cents lower, $35.75-$36.25, 200-230 lbs.

If hogs are delivered before 9:30 a.m. an extra 25 cents per hundred weight will be paid.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Direct Hogs (Fed-State) Barrows and gilts 75 lower, demand moderate U.S. 1-2, 200-230 lbs. country points, mostly 36.25, few at 36.50, plants, 36.50-37, few at 37.25 U.S. 1-3, 200-230 lbs. country points, 36-36.25, plants, 36.25-37 U.S. 230-250 lbs. country points, 35.25-36, plants, 35.50-36.75.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cattle 800. Compared to last Monday, slaughter steers and heifers fully steady. Slaughter cows and bulls steady. Supply 45 per cent slaughter steers, 30 per cent heifers. Demand good.

Steers: choice and prime, 2-4, 975-1200, $38-38.75; couple lots, $39.50; choice, 2-4, 950-1175, $37-38; good and choice, 2-4, 900-1100, $35.50-37; good, 2-3, 875-1300, $33.35. Heifers: choice and prime, 2-4, $25-1030, $36-37.75; lot, $37; choice, 2-4, $25-1000, $35-36; good and choice, 2-4, 800-925, $34-35; good, 2-3, 775-925, $32.34. Cows: utility and commercial, 1-3, $25-29.50; cutter, $22-29. Bulls: 1-2, 990-1720, $31-36.

A Page Of Opinion

Pluming The Male

Something has been happening to barber shops and beauty salons for some time, and the evolutionary process has not yet ended. First it appeared the ladies were threatening to take over the barber shops, once an all-male preserve. Then the men began to even the score.

Males no longer seek neat and simple haircuts. In ever increasing hordes, they are going to their favorite hairstylists with the aim of repairing the damage to the upper epidermis.

They want their hair again, and they will take it any way they can get it — loose, woven or planted.

"Men are more vain than ever," says a New York hairstylist whose clients include some of the luminaires of the entertainment world. "Even truck drivers and laborers spend $15 for a hairstyling these days."

But permanent waves, teasing, coloring, false sideburns, mustaches and beards are not all that are going on the male head. Wigs have become big sellers. So have hair transplants and hair reweaving, which involves an intricate process of weaving the remaining natural hair into a mat of artificial strands.

To go with his new coiffure, the resplendent male is indulging in all manner of lotions, hair sprays, and colognes. But it is his crowing glory which sets him off. And only his hairdresser can tell for sure.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, March 21, the 80th day of 1977. There are 285 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1829 an earthquake in Spain killed some 6,000 people.

On this date:

In 1685, the composer Johann Sebastian Bach was born in Germany. In 1790, Thomas Jefferson became the first U.S. Secretary of State.

In 1803, the French civil code, the Code Napoleon, was completed.

In 1891, a marriage in Kentucky ended the feud between the Hatfields and McCoys.

In 1918, in World War I, German guns bombarded Paris from 75 miles away.

In 1973, the United States vetoed a U.N. Security Council resolution on the American dispute with Panama over the Panama Canal, calling the resolution outside pressure.

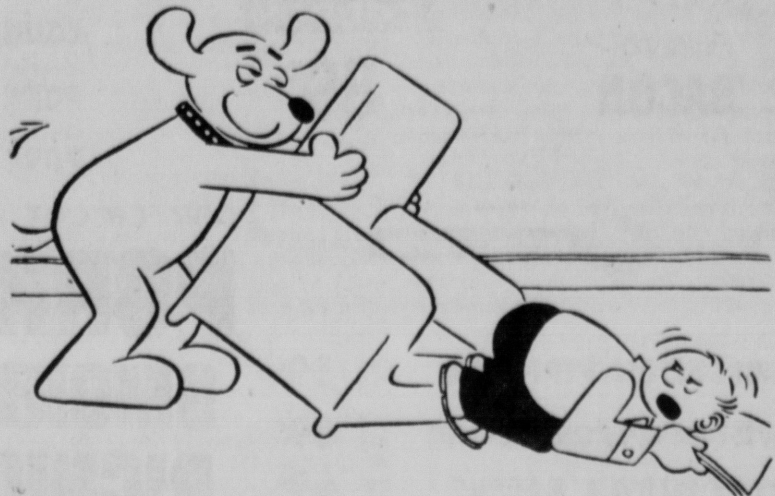

Ten years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson flew back to Washington from a conference at Guam on the Vietnam War.

Five years ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that states may not set one-year residence as a requirement for voting.

One year ago: Moslem rebels in Beirut captured the 25-story Holiday Inn hotel, achieving a key victory in the Lebanese Civil War.

Today's birthdays: Writer Phyllis McGinley is 72. John D. Rockefeller III is 71.

Thought for today: In this world there is always danger for those who are afraid of it. — George Bernard Shaw, Irish-born writer, 1856-1950.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My son is a boxer and wrestler in his first year at college. We watched him wrestle and were proud that he won his class. Afterwards, he was wiped out with fatigue. He told us that he was exhausted before the match because he had to "make his weight." He was seven pounds too heavy five hours before his match. Don't you think this is dangerous?

Mr. W. P., Pa.

Dear Mr. P.:

"Making weight" is a strenuous technique by which boxers and wrestlers come down to a class weight in a hurry. By means of sauna baths, steam rooms, hot rubber packs and limiting fluid, rapid weight reduction can be accomplished.

Sometimes, contrary to good medical judgment, water pills and even strong laxatives are used.

All of this hurried emphasis on weight reduction can be treacherous. Coaches in high schools and colleges are being advised by the American College of Sports Medicine to cease these rigid and dangerous practices of fluid deprivation.

Any such rigorous process which effects the health of the wrestler or boxer should be eliminated. Weight reduction can be accomplished by starting a sensible reduction program long in advance. In this way, the good health of the student can be maintained.

We had a ghastly experience. I want to pass it on to you so you can tell your readers about it. Perhaps in this way other children might be spared what we had to live through. Our 3-year-old daughter was playing with, and swallowed, a metal pull tab that my husband had removed from a beer can. It had to be removed under general anesthesia.

Mrs. T. D., Ohio

Dear Mrs. D.:

Thank you for calling to our attention this potential hazard. These tiny metal strips seem to attract the attention of young children. As you know, youngsters are apt to pop almost anything in their mouths that they happen to be playing with.

Your experience, apparently, is not entirely unusual. Dr. John D. Bunting, of the University of Chicago, reports that he has treated, during a period of three years, seven children who had either swallowed or sucked into their lungs these pull tabs.

The complications that arose in some of these cases were enormous. Parents and baby sitters should take note of this and see that metal tabs are always carefully discarded.

Man Eats Breakfast Cereal With Magnet

SEATTLE (AP) — Rick McDonald eats his breakfast cereal with a magnet — quickly, before it rusts.

McDonald discovered the other day that the cereal he was eating — "Frosted Rice," a mineral-enriched cereal made by the Kellogg Co. — was laced with so much iron he literally could pick up bits of it with a magnet.

"Tiny black specks, that's what I saw," McDonald recalled. "They were all over the bottom of the dish, floating in the milk."

The 29-year-old television repairman

suspected the residue in his cereal bowl was dirt or a form of iron used in cereals which are enriched with vitamins and minerals. The body requires a certain amount of iron in the daily diet, mainly to produce hemoglobin, the part of blood which carries oxygen.

McDonald checked by holding a magnet over the specks. They clung to the tip. A few sweeps and the dish was spotless.

A Kellogg executive told a local newspaper there is nothing harmful about the little black bits.

"It just doesn't look too good," he said.

Kellogg officials at company headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich., were not immediately available for additional comment.

McDonald felt the Kellogg folks had certainly given him his money's worth of mineral enrichment. But he didn't appreciate it.

"I thought, 'how rude of them to put this in my breakfast,'" he said.

He called the company for an explanation and, a few days later, received a refund check for $1.15 to cover the price of his purchase, along with an apology for the "experience with our cereal."

The executive who talked to the newspaper said there is a simple explanation for the cereal's odd characteristic: The iron is mixed into the sugar coating rather than with the cereal itself, and comes off when the cereal is soaked in milk.

There was no immediate explanation of how the mineral solidified out of the milk solution.

To remedy the situation of the unappetizing visible specks, the executive said, the company has cut back the amount of iron enrichment in Frosted Rice from 25 per cent of the minimum adult daily requirement to 10 per cent.

Open To An Ex Caddy

By JIM BISHOP

It was a soggy September. The rich sat on the porch of The Country Club sipping whiskey. They smiled sympathetically at the ex-caddy, Francis Ouimet, yanked his cap down over his eyes and carried a canvas bag around the course.

They called him "boy." He was 20 and shy. He had two woods and six unmatched irons. He wore knickerbockers and a tie. Francis had entered his name in the United States Open. The rich men felt it was out of character.

Day after day he played the three nines - Clyde, Squirrel and Primrose. It was the best course in America, but there were several types of grasses in the fairways, the greens were in tiers. The Country Club in Brookline, Massachusetts, had been designed primarily for tennis courts and a race track.

Some people would come out to watch the Englishmen play. It was their game. The stars would be Harry Vardon, with his new overlapping grip, and Ted Ray, the long-ball hitter.

The men on the porch recalled that they had paid Francis Ouimet 28 cents a round for carrying clubs. Now, in 1913, he had coaxed a 10-year-old schoolboy, Eddie Lowery, to carry his. Francis was becoming bold.

The British were kind to the boy. They stepped aside and saw the frightened expression in his brown eyes, the tension running up his arms. After two rounds, Harry Vardon and Wilfred Reid of England led at 147. Ted Ray and his long, wild hits were two shots back. McDonald Smith and Jim Barnes had 150.

Ouimet was tied with a chubby kid named Walter Hagen at 151. The club members applauded. Their caddy was only four strokes back of the champs. He should quit. He had made his point. Ouimet asked Eddie Lowery if he would remain home from school tomorrow. Eddie nodded.

On the third day the rain was windless and steady. Well-hit balls exploded in water. Francis fired a 74. Vardon and Ray carded 78s. The British began to address the skinny boy. He said "Yes sir" and "No sir."

The members of The Country Club celebrated. By God that youngster showed the English how to putt. On the fourth day they got off the porch to watch. Balls sank in the fairways. Ray came in first with a 79 for a total of 304.

Harry Vardon, grim and irritated, three-putted too many greens. He had a 79 for a two-way tie. Barnes, Hagen, Reid all died on the back nine. Ouimet came to the 13th needing two birdies to tie.

He was 30 yards off the green in two. The skinny kid chipped. The ball fell in for a bird. He parred the long 14th, the 15th and 16th. On the sharp dogleg 17th, Francis hit his best drive and whacked a second shot 20 feet behind the pin.

The crowd choked in silence. Ouimet hit the putt solidly. It ran for the cup, hit the back, bounced up, and dropped in. He had his second birdie. On the 18th, all he required for a tie was a par. He hit a good drive. The rain was in his eyes as he hit an iron to the edge of the green.

He chipped delicately five feet short of the pin. Nobody breathed. The frightened eyes scanned ball to hole. He couldn't take his time. He hit it and sunk it. The American crowd went wild.

Eddie Lowery said he'd play hooky. Ouimet thanked him. "It's a wonderful mood," he said. "I'm numb." Vardon and Ray stopped smiling at the boy. They played their hearts out. After nine holes of the playoff, all three were dead even.

The tenth was 140 yards, par 3. Vardon tried too hard. He was short. Ray had too much club. His ball died on the back of the sloppy green.

Zoo Animal Abuse Said Public's Fault

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Early this year Methuselah, an old alligator at the Los Angeles Zoo, was attacked by an unknown vandal who nearly put out his eye. A week later, another visitor who wanted more action in the alligator pond poked Methuselah in the injured eye, damaging it permanently.

At the New London, Conn., zoo a 13-year-old deer lost a fetus she was carrying after she was beaten with heavy sticks early in March. Another deer was beaten but managed to escape its attackers.

A janitor at the Buffalo, N.Y., zoo was charged last winter with cruelty to animals after he allegedly beat and scalded a Celebes ape. The janitor was acquitted, but the small primate had to be destroyed due to the extent of the burns it suffered.

Such incidents still occur at zoos throughout the country but not at the level of a few years ago, most zoo officials say. They say that increased security and newly imposed or higher zoo admission prices are largely responsible for the decrease.

After a 1974 survey showed the Atlanta Zoo was losing "thousands of dollars through theft, animal abuse and vandalism," a $1 admission fee was imposed and the security force was strengthened, said zoo director Steve Dobbs.

"Since three years ago we've seen a drastic decrease" in animal abuse, he said. "Vandalism and theft have also decreased."

Dr. James Savoy, director of the

Francis dropped his ball 15 feet from the pin. He missed the putt for a deuce. The British three-putted.

Vardon and Ray seemed to be obsessed with the thought that they could lose to a Yankee caddy. On the par 4 15th, Ray hit an over-the-hill drive so hard he knocked the derby off a spectator. He drew a six. He was four shots behind Ouimet, three behind Vardon.

On the 17th, Harry Vardon hooked his drive into the trees. He hit a wedge onto the fairway, reached the green in three, and two-putted for a bogie. Ouimet decided to test his nerves. He was on in two, and sunk an 18-footer for a birdie.

Ray was out of it. On the 18th the great Vardon collapsed with a double bogie. Francis was on in two. He two-putted to beat Vardon by five strokes. An Englishman wrote: "When we are old men, children will ask us to tell them again the romantic story of the 20th of September, 1913." ...

Detroit Zoo, said attacks on animals have decreased in the past two years and much of what occurs now is due to ignorance on the part of zoo visitors.

"If the people did something because they just weren't thinking, we scold them," he said. "If there is an indication it was planned, we don't hesitate to prosecute."

At the Potter Park Zoo in Lansing, Mich., where a 40 pound raccoon was killed and skinned, three deer were beaten with a spiked board and four birds were stolen, director Douglas Finley said the level of violence against animals is up sharply since 1975 when the zoo's design was changed to make the animals more visible to the public.

"Zoos used to be designed with chains, bars and concrete," Finley said. "Now we've made them more accessible for viewing the animals — and apparently also made the animals more vulnerable."

Two 19-year-old high school students were arrested in the Jan. 4 incident at Lansing and were fined $75 and sentenced to 90 days in jail.

"I can't believe the worst we can do, the worst punishment we can get for something like that is 90 days in jail," Finley said.

Coal Firms Being Sued

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Six Schuylkill County coal companies have been sued by the federal government for failure to pay penalties for safety violations.

U.S. Atty. David Marston filed enforcement actions here Friday, seeking suites up to $1,500 per company.

have repeatedly refused to pay penalties assessed under the Coal Mine Health and Safety Act. He said federal mine inspectors had turned up such violations as failure to seal closed mine shafts safely, inadequate ventilating systems and dust control, failure to provide adequate roof supports and failure to provide the required protective equipment for miners.

Named were H. and S. Coal Co. and Knorr Coal Co., both of Hedges; Goss Coal Co., Sunbury; Herring Brothers & Lucas Coal Co. and D. and R. Coal Co., both of Pine Grove; and the Split Vein Coal Co. of Paxinos.

Identified Flying Objects In Space

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — There were 1,117 manmade objects in space at the end of 1976, according to the North American Air Defense Command.

The number of satellites and pieces of debris from fragmented rocket bodies is up from the 1975 record of 929 objects.

Aging Commission Awards Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) The Ohio Commission on Aging has approved the award of $1.2 million in federal funds to three Area Agencies on Aging to provide social services to the elderly.

The commission also approved $75,000 in federal funds to each of the three agencies for administrative purposes.

Commission director Martin A. Janis announced the approval Friday.

The Miami Valley Council on Aging was awarded $439,886; Central Ohio Area Agency $443,650, and the Area Agency on Aging for Defiance, Erie, Fulton, Henry, Lucas, Ottawa, Paulding, Sandusky, Williams and Wood counties received approval of $404,070.

Antioch Work Program Has Pains

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Antioch College, which pioneered in a work-study program that sends its students anywhere from “scaling mountains to selling thread at Woolworth’s” is experiencing growth pains.

For a change the problem doesn’t involve Vietnam or the minority rights issues prominent in the past. This time, the problem is one that face most colleges—lack of money.

The chancellor of the financially troubled liberal arts college, Dr. Francis X. Shea, resigned last week as head of the Yellow Springs campus, citing difficulties in raising money and criticizing a system that has expanded to include 20 other campuses in this country and five overseas.

“A year ago, the whole system was flat on its back and had very little chance,” said Shea, former president of St. Scholastica College in Duluth, Minn.

However, Antioch was able to raise $2.6 million, mostly in alumni endowments, this year. “We’re making it now, as the other campuses are, but we’re barely making it,” said Shea.

“My job has been to pull (the school) together and I think we’ve managed to do that,” he said.

Antioch, founded in 1853 and one of the nation’s oldest experimental colleges, was one of the first to establish the workstudy program in which students spend half their time off campus working at service jobs that now take them to various parts of the country and the world.

“We maintain, at a remarkably low cost, a luxurious student-teacher ratio in the classroom (1-to-9),” Shea said. “And we have one other genuine uniqueness—we require students to spend half a year doing everything from scaling mountains to selling thread at Woolworth’s.”

Shea, 51, a former Jesuit priest, says the Yellow Springs campus is in need of repair, and must aggressively recruit new students.

Students seem to be following a national trend toward the practical disciplines of science, business and technology. But the lack of a grading system makes some parents wary of paying the considerable tuition charge. That, combined with a reputation as a trouble spot during the Vietnam era, has prompted some organizations to specify that their money not be given to Antioch, Shea said.

William Birenbaum, president of the Antioch system, downplayed Antioch’s financial problems.

“Antioch, like the majority of educational institutions these days, is living on the razor’s edge of balancing a budget,” he said. “Considering what it’s been through, Antioch’s state of insolvency compares remarkably well with other states of insolvency (at other colleges).”

Birenbaum, former head of the Staten Island branch of the City College of New York, said one of his first tasks since assuming the post last September has been to reorganize the 7,500-student system.

“It is a system that has not been managed,” said Birenbaum. “Whether it can be managed is another question. I’m optimistic.”

Counselor Recognized By AAM&FC

DR. GENE MENDENHALL

The Rev. Dr. Gene Mendenhall, pastoral counselor of the Scioto Paint Valley Mental Health Center, Chillicothe, has been accepted into clinical membership in the American Association of Marriage and Family Counselors.

The Rev. Mendenhall works at the Pickaway County Mental Health Clinic at Berger Hospital on Mondays and Wednesdays.

The major aim of the AAM & FC fellowship is to maintain the highest professional standards in the field of marriage counseling. Requirements for membership are:

The member must have a minimum of an earned master’s degree in the mental health field; 200 hours of approved supervision of the practice of marriage and family counseling; 1,000 hours of clinical experience in the practice of marriage and family counseling under approved supervision involving at least 50 different cases.

Glass Container Plants To Sell

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Anchor Hocking Corp. and the Latchford Glass Co. announced on Friday that agreements in principle have been reached for the purchase by Latchford of Anchor Hocking’s glass container plants at Los Angeles and San Leandro, Calif.

The two plants manufacture containers for food, beverage, liquor and wine producers.

The transactions are subject to final approval by both firms and are expected to be closed in early April, the companies said. Purchase prices were not disclosed.

News Of Interest To Women

6 The Circleville Herald, Monday March 21, 1977

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Open Marriage A Sex Smorgasbord

DEAR ABBY: You told a woman who was in love with a married man: "Send him home to his wife and children . . ."

Abby, this is 1977. Why didn't you tell her to ask her married lover to be honest with his wife about her, and try to develop an "open marriage" that would include the girlfriend too?

A marriage doesn't have to be exclusion to be good. Each of us can love more than one person. Why be hypocritical? If there were fewer "either-or" ultimatums, there would be fewer divorces.

After 28 years of a monogamous marriage, my wife and I decided to "open" our marriage to include others. I now encourage and help my wife to have outside relationships with other men, and she does the same for me with other women. Our open marriage has revitalized us and strengthened our marriage.

OPEN AND HAPPY

DEAR ABBY: I didn't suggest an "open marriage" because I wouldn't advise anyone to do what I myself wouldn't do. Marriage is (or should be) a sacred covenant between two people, and to "open" it to include others is a violation of that covenant.

It may be possible to love more than one person, but in a civilized society, it's one at a time. The "group" thing, which includes many partners, is not a "love feast" - it's a sexual smorgasbord.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with your comment about the 73-year-old woman signed TALKS TOO MUCH. "Your son did you a kindness to tell you so."

However, I have a better way to find out if I'm talking too much. If someone interrupts me, I just keep quiet. And if nobody asks me what I was saying before I was interrupted, I know I've been talking too much.

D.D.J. IN SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

DER D.D.J.: Horray for you. Most people would say, "As I was saying . . ."

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the letter about a sixth grade teacher telling a dirty joke to his class:

I have six children (the youngest in the seventh grade) and have worked as an aide in an elementary school for eight years, and I have a message for parents:

If you dislike something your child tells you happened at school, talk to the teacher. Sometimes a child misunderstands or, unfortunately, lies. If the teacher's explanation doesn't satisfy you, to go to the principal.

If it is something serious or dangerous, and you are CERTAIN of your facts, state your concern in writing and send it to the personnel department of your school district.

Get involved; see what is happening at your child's school. But remember, too, that neither your child nor the teacher is perfect.

FOR THE KIDS

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: For the most readable and honest book ever published about Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt, get "My Parents" by James Roosevelt, their oldest son. It's rich in political history and will give you an intimate look at a fascinating family.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Miss Cupp, Mr. Boyer Will Marry

TAMMIE LYNN CUPP

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cupp, Stoutsville are announcing the engagement of their daughter Tammie Lynn to Mr. David Nelson Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boyer, 650 E. Ohio St.

The bride elect is a senior at Amanda-Clearcreek High School.

Mr. Boyer is a 1976 graduate of Circleville High School and is currently employed at K-Mart in Chillicothe as a mechanic.

The wedding will be an event of June 25.

BPW Will Meet

The Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club will meet on 7 p.m. March 24, at the Pickaway Arms.

Chairman, Mrs. Etha Mae Wolford states reservations should be made by March 22 to either her or the president, Mrs. Louise Hill.

Xi Eta Epsilon Enjoys Night Out

Seven members of Xi Eta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi recently spent an evening in Columbus dining and shopping at the Colony Bazaar.

The next meeting will be held 7:30 p.m., April 5 in the home of Donna Root, 99 Bolens Ave.

Election of officers for the coming year will be held and voting on "Girl of The Year" will also be held.

All members are urged to attend.

CB Interference Remains Unsolved

WALLINFORM, Conn. (AP) — It's disconcerting, says the Rev. W. Robert Alter, "particularly in the middle of a sermon."

He's talking about interference, a variety of strange noises he attributes to Citizens Band hobbyists, that has become an almost weekly occurrence over the public address system at Faith Baptist Church.

In simple terms, any wire leading to an amplifier can act as an antenna and pick up CB signals being broadcast nearby.

A spokeswoman for Channel Masters, one of several CB clubs in the Wallingford area, said the problem might be with the PA system or with a CB base station nearby. She said an appeal from the minister might resolve the problem.

But the Rev. John F. Heuchert of Wallingford's First United Methodist Church suggested another solution. "We use natural voice power," he said.

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — If you find yourself a mite hungry along the road around here, it's nice to know there's a good buddy waitin' up ahead.

That's the way Citizens' Band radio buffs feel about Breaker, Breaker, a 2½-month-old cafe along highway I-six-oh in the quiet ranching community of Rubidoux, just west of Riverside.

Breaker, Breaker caters to CBers and even allows customers to call in orders by radio and have the meals waiting when they arrive.

"At least 90 per cent of our business is CBers, but we want to cater to everyone — CBers, truckers and the general public," says Joyce Kurtz, better known as Patches.

The restaurant's co-owner, Maureen "Moe" Hemphill, feels Breaker, Breaker is catching on largely because of its fare.

"It's hearty and it's homemade," she says. "The food in most other restaurants all tastes the same. Here everything is different — and there's a lot of it."

Michael McCormack, president of the American CB Radio Association, said in a telephone interview that various ethnic and racial groups have taken over and segregated entire CB channels.

"Some even threaten outsiders who try to talk on their channels," said McCormack who monitors CB airwaves around the country. "When a white gets on a black channel, or vice versa, there is a flow of ugly racial remarks and at times threats of violence. By the articulation and language you can detect who owns the channel."

McCormack said "real hatreds exist out there."

Earthworms Next Gourmet's Delight?

SEATTLE (AP) — When you peddle earthworms as food fit for humans, there's nowhere to go but up. Sure enough, Ronald Gaddie is reporting progress in his campaign to popularize the dish.

For a second year, Gaddie's North American Bait Farms Inc. is sponsoring a nationwide worm recipe contest. Gaddie says the number of entries has soared over last year — from 200 to 500.

Last year's winner was Earthworm Applesauce Surprise Cake.

"Try 'em, you'll like them," said Gaddie in a telephone interview from Centralia, Wash., where he teaches classes to prospective earthworm raisers at Pacific Northwest Bait and Ecology. That firm sells worms to Gaddie's company, which is based in Ontario, Calif.

Worms "taste like shredded wheat," said Gaddie. "I like them best in oatmeal cookies, but I've eaten them with rice, sprinkled on top of salads rather than bacon bits, with scrambled eggs and with steak and gravy."

For those concerned about nutrition, Gaddie says earthworms are 72 per cent protein and less than one per cent fat. For those who like the terminology of haute cuisine, there is always the name "ver de Terre."

Mary Croslin, who owns Pacific Northwest Bait and Ecology, is raising 5.3 million worms in beds filled with manure.

"It's kind of shocking the first time you eat one, but now I don't even think about it," she said. When salted they taste like jerky, she said.

Gaddie said he once ate worms every day for three months. "They didn't hurt me," he added.

Order Review Of USDA Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob S. Bergland has formally ordered the job-by-job review of the roughly 10,000 USDA employees in Washington to see whether their work can be ended, combined into fewer positions or simplified.

He promised such a review in late January after taking office.

He repeated Friday that "no one will lose his or her job as a result of this review" but slots might be abolished as they become vacant.

Agency supervisors were told to submit their recommendations by April 15 on the number of jobs that could be eliminated and any suggestions they had on reorganizing their operations.

Bergland also said that he has told those administrators to report by May 15 on whether 97 advisory committees should be maintained or abolished. The secretary terminated 11 of the panels last month as unnecessary.

His memorandum said that no new advisory committees would be established during the review period. Charters for existing ones would not be extended, but they could continue activities already scheduled, he said.

Bergland told Congressmen privately Thursday that he intends to allow several panels with charters expiring this spring die off, but would retain some 50 forestry advisory panels that consult with USDA on conservation practices at the county level.

After driving past a red traffic signal, Marvin was sired to the curb by a motorcycle officer. Acting on a hunch, the officer took a look in the trunk. Sure enough, he discovered a quantity of illicit drugs.

Was this evidence usable against Marvin in court? No, a judge ruled, because this was an "unreasonable search and seizure" — forbidden by the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution.

"Such search," said the court, "could have had no relation to the traffic violation."

Generally speaking, the fact that a motorist has committed a routine traffic violation does not justify a search of his car. However, there are exceptions. Take this case:

A motorist was halted for drunk driving. The officer, looking for wine or whiskey bottles, checked the glove compartment. There he found a pistol.

In these circumstances the pistol was held to be admissible in the courtroom. Searching the car for bottles, said the court, was a logical step in view of the reason for the original arrest.

Furthermore, an officer has the right to follow his own senses in discovering incriminating evidence.

In a third case, after a policeman stopped a speeder, he spied the butt of a revolver protruding from underneath the front seat. This evidence was later held valid when the government prosecuted the motorist for carrying a concealed weapon.

As a judge put it: "The officer was under no duty to close his eyes to the fact that the (gun) was in plain view."

Grange News

SALT CREEK GRANGE

"Wearin' Of The Green" was the general theme for the March 15 official inspection meeting of Saltcreek Valley Grange. Hoyt Timmons, the Master, welcomed Frank and Mary Kathryn Lands, Ohio State Grange Deputies for Pickaway County.

Mary DeLong reminded fellow members of the baking and sewing contest scheduled for the April 5 session and the national contests. She asked for help at the NFO banquet.

Legislative Agent Wayne Cryder reviewed the bills being placed in the State Senate and House hoppers for special attention. Esther Collins, secretary, read a letter from Cooperative Extension Service expressing appreciation for help with the 4-H award contests at the County Fair. There was a unanimous decision to continue this community project.

Timmons read a news letter from the National Grange which gave details of the restoration of the National Grange Building in Washington D.C. which began in 1959. Plans were made for a mock mortgage burning ceremony at Wolfe Hall March 25, the date of the actual mortgage burning at National Headquarters. This open meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a cooperative meal.

A message from the State Master told of the recent Pike, Ross, and Pickaway County conference concerning needs and interests related to organization progress — state as well as nation.

Greetings were sent Fred DeLong recuperating at home after release from Berger Hospital.

The Irish program was directed by the lecturer Barbara McKenzie.

WASHINGTON GRANGE

Washington Grange met for their regular meeting March 8 at the Washington Township School.

Worthy Master Lydia DeLong was in charge of the business meeting and it was noted that all officers were present.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Lands, County Deputies, were present and inspected the meeting.

The Youth Committee report was given by Brenda Bolender.

The CWA chairman, Diana Lands, announced that the Grange will be serving at the next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile on March 24. She also stated that the grange will be assisting to serve the NFO Banquet on April 2.

The charter was draped in memory of Byron Bolender, a 50-year member of Washington Grange. A report of the Resolutions Committee was given by Ralph DeLong.

Pat Rickard, lecturer, presented the program featuring readings and contests.

CIRCLEVILLE CITY SCHOOLS

Separate, sealed proposals for each of the requirements set forth below will be received at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education of the Circleville City School District, Pickaway County, Ohio, until 12:00 o'clock noon E.S.T. April 12, 1977 and will be publicly opened and read immediately thereafter at the superintendent's office, 320 South Court Street, Circleville, Ohio. The award will be considered at the next meeting of the Board.

Tax Bill Brings Assembly Discord

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two powerful House Democrats, who are often in concert of major legislative matters, have hit a discordant note on a controversial school income tax bill.

After reading a published report that said the bill had met no major opposition, Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, fired off a letter to the sponsor, Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo. Both lawmakers are practicing attorneys.

"I don't know if my view constitutes major opposition," Lehman wrote, "but I want you to know that I am unalterably opposed to (the bill)."

Lehman said most of his constituents were already paying four income taxes and should not be burdened with a fifth. The legislation would permit local votes on imposition of a school district income tax to replace property taxes as a major source of funding for school operations.

Wilkowski introduced the bill after Toledoans defeated for the third consecutive time a property tax levy and schools there closed some three weeks early for Christmas vacation.

To Lehman, however, a local income tax is not the answer to school finance problems. "Let's bury it," he told Wilkowski, "and get on with the real business of this legislative session."

Wilkowski was quick to reply. "Your rhetorical question as to whether or not your view constitutes major opposition, please be assured that it does not," he wrote Lehman.

Wilkowski listed the Ohio Manufacturers Association as a major opponent, and told Lehman: "We all become at times obsessed with our own importance."

He also suggested that Lehman had not read his bill and said "the last person who wanted to bury something (Lehman's recommendation for the bill) was Nikita Khrushchev. I understand we buried him first."

"I do not want to do anything that would hamper your efforts to be elected attorney general," the outspoken Wilkowski concluded. "In fact, I intend to help you in your campaign. But, Harry, you need not seek campaign issues at the expense of sabotaging or attempting to derail, meaningful legislation."

Lehman, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has been mentioned as a candidate for attorney general in 1978.

"I did note one positive statement in your letter," he wrote back to Wilkowski "and I am pleased to learn that you have offered your assistance to my campaign, should I be a candidate for attorney general."

Then he quoted from Henry David

Thoreau and added: "It is obvious that there is a beat of a different drummer in the Ways and Means Committee. The music I hear in my district tells me that my constituents are not interested in another income tax."

The bill is currently in a Ways and Means subcommittee, chaired by Wilkowski.

EM3 Scott A. Jones will be returning home March 28 on leave from the United States Navy. Jones is presently stationed at the Naval Reactors Facility in the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory where he is assigned to the S5G nuclear prototype.

SCOTT A. JONES

He qualified on Dec. 2 at the prototype to supervise, operate and do maintenance on the Naval Nuclear Power Plant. He has been receiving additional proficiency training and also supporting maintenance on the reactor plant since his qualification. Following his leave Jones will be stationed at the submarine base in New London, Conn., where he will fly to Scotland to man the U.S.S. Alexander Hamilton, the nuclear powered fleet ballistic missile submarine, on three month intervals.

Airman Steven R. Crist, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Crist of 600 Ridgewood Drive, has been selected for technical training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., in the Air Force aircraft maintenance field.

STEVEN R. CRIST

Airman Crist, a 1973 graduate of Circleville High School, attended Ohio State University, Columbus.

Airman Kitty J. Bialy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bialy of 19824 Bolender Pontius Road, has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

KITTY J. BIALY

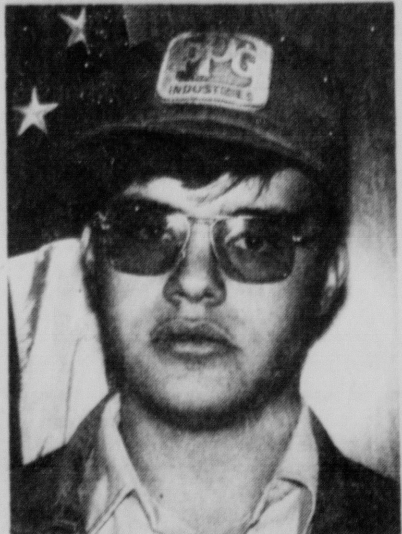

During the six weeks training at Lackland AFB, Tex., the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Bialy will now receive specialized training in the aircraft equipment maintenance field.

The airman is a 1976 graduate of Logan Elm High School.

Seaman Recruit Duane Leroy Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dale Hart, Sunset Drive, has enlisted in the United States Navy's delayed enlistment program. Hart, a senior at Circleville High School, will be leaving

Sept. 1 for his basic training at Great Lakes, Ill.

DUANE LEROY HART

He enlisted into the school guarantee program where he will undergo extensive training in the avionics field. During this training he will study how to operate and maintain sophisticated electronics equipment, wiring and schematic diagrams, theory, performance and installation of computerized target acquisition tracking and missile guidance systems, theory of alternating and direct current, basic electricity and electronics. He will then go into one of four guaranteed rating structures, all closely related but tasked with different responsibilities—aviation fire control technician, aviation antisubmarine warfare, aviation electronics technician and tradesman.

Hart was enlisted into the Navy by Machinist Mate Billy Sutton who works out of the Navy Recruiting station, in Chillicothe. PO Sutton also maintains a recruiting office at 210 South Court Street.

The local Marine Corps Representative, SSGT. Angelo E. Costanzo, will be at the Circleville Post Office from the hours of 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. the first week of every month; phone 474-1500. The Marine Corps Recruiter can be contacted for appointment any other time at 64 North Paint St., Chillicothe, Ohio; phone 772-1474.

Dennis L. Kiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kiser of Route 1, Stoutsville, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program today, according to SSgt. Crum, Air Force recruiter, located in Lancaster, Ohio.

Kiser, a 1977 graduate of Amanda Clearcreek High School, is scheduled for enlistment in the Regular Air Force on Aug. 29, 1977. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six-week basic training course, he is scheduled to receive technical training in the Helicopter Mechanic.

Kiser will be earning credits toward a Career Education Certificate through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and other Air Force technical training schools.

Heacock Awarded Silver Beaver

The Central Ohio Council, Boy Scouts of America, presented Dr. James Heacock, 210 Linden Lane, Circleville, with the Silver Beaver Award, the council's highest award, at the annual council dinner at the Lausche Building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Dr. Heacock was one of 12 recipients of the award. He has been an assistant scoutmaster and is currently scoutmaster of Troop 52 and has worked with the troop during the past 10 years.

He is also a merit badge counselor and a District Award of Merit recipient. Under his guidance, 12 scouts achieved the rank of Eagle Scout.

Heacock is also a chemist with the E.I. DuPont De Nemours and Co. and a member of the American Chemical Society.

He is a member of the Community United Methodist Church's administrative board and a Sunday School teacher.

Commission Sees Viet Detente Ahead

CLARK AIR BASE, The Philippines (AP) — President Carter's special commission to Indochina is on its way home with assurances from Vietnam and slight hopes from Laos that procedures can be set up to clarify the status of some of the Americans missing in the Vietnam War.

Hanoi handed over what it said were the remains of 12 U.S. pilots shot down in Vietnam. They were flown to Honolulu, and military medical experts went to work on them to confirm the identities of the men by checking the remains with their military health records.

The remains will be sent to the Army Mortuary in Oakland, Calif., and then on to funeral directors chosen by the families of the men, officials said.

The Vietnamese also agreed to establish an office to gather information about other missing Americans.

Leonard Woodcock, the commission leader, said the trip to Hanoi "laid the basis, at the will of the President, for moving toward the normalization of relations between the United States and Vietnam."

Woodcock, who is president of the United Auto Workers, said his group

Yeatts, Wilson Attend DeMolay Confab

Jerry L. Yeatts son of Mrs. Hazel M. Yeatts of 507 N. Pickaway St., and David B. Wilson son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of 1080 Georgia Road, joined over 100 other young men in a special "moc legislature" of the Order of DeMolay last Saturday (March 19, 1977).

The young men were Delegates to the Ohio DeMolay Legislature held in the chambers of the State House of Representatives in Columbus. The day long session featured discussion by the delegates representing the 160 DeMolay chapters in Ohio on subjects pertaining to DeMolay and the recent energy crisis. Vernal Riffe Jr. (D-New Boston) the Speaker of the House, welcomed the Delegates to the house chambers.

The Order of DeMolay is a Masonic Sponsored young men's organization founded in 1919 in Kansas City Missouri. It has a world wide membership of over 3 million and is open to young men 13-21 years of age who have a good moral character and a belief in God.

agreed to bring home the Vietnamese message that U.S. aid in the reconstruction of Vietnam is a matter of humanitarian principle.

"From the beginning I emphasized that our two countries were meeting as equals," Woodcock said. "... I told them that if they closed the door on us, then it might take 10 or 12 years before we were back."

Woodcock said Deputy Foreign Minister Phan Hien declared: "You will not be disappointed with us."

Woodcock said the visit to Vientiane produced hope that the U.S. Embassy and the Laotian government could set up procedures to seek information about Americans shot down in Laos, but "we have no specific understanding on this matter." A Laotian government newspaper said any accounting for missing Americans would be linked to requests for U.S. aid.

The Pentagon lists 795 Americans missing in action in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos and says the remains of more than 1,700 others killed in action have not been recovered. The Cambodian government refused to talk with the commission.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

The 125 year old Ohio constitution provision which now limits state debt to a maximum of $750,000 will be repealed and replaced by a "flexible debt limit" if a resolution passed Tuesday by the Ohio Senate ultimately becomes law.

Senate Joint Resolution (SJR) 3 would allow the state, by a 2-3 vote of the General Assembly, to issue general obligation bonds for capital improvements and highways without a vote of the people or a constitutional amendment. Bonds that would be issued in any one fiscal year would be limited to 8 per cent of the average state revenue for the two preceding years. Debt service on these bonds may not exceed 6 per cent of the state's average revenues for the two years prior to issuance of the bonds.

In addition to capital improvements and highways, SJR3 would also allow the state to incur debt in any fiscal year to meet appropriations made by the legislature for that fiscal year. This provision is designed to ease the effects of the "cash flow" problems which have affected state financing from time to time. Any such debt must be repaid before the end of the fiscal year.

If SJR 3 becomes law, estimates indicate that the state could borrow up to $321 million in 1978, $328 million in 1979 and $352 million in 1980 without a vote of the people.

After a careful and detailed study of the resolution, Senator Collins decided to vote against it on the floor. He noted that its supporters had failed to show a single example of voter rejection of a needed state bond issue. Collins said, "I strongly believe that the voters should retain final approval over all the state bond issues. The people of Ohio have never failed to support justified state spending." He added, "If state officials can't convince the voters that a bond issue is necessary, then it doesn't deserve to pass."

In other Senate action, a Joint Resolution (SJR 11) modifying the organization and procedure of county charter commissions was passed. SJR 11 allows some public office holders to serve on county charter commissions, establishes procedures for repeal of a county charter, allows a charter to be submitted by a petition of the people and requires a charter amendment to relate to only one subject. It also clarifies certain aspects of county charters and removes some ambiguities that exist under present law.

The Senate Finance Committee passed Amended House Bill 152. This bill is of particular importance to college students and their families. It allows the Ohio Student Loan Commission to increase its loan guarantee from 90 per cent to 100 per cent on any unpaid principal and interest. This change meets federal standards and gains the state 100 per cent federal re-insurance on each loan. It is expected that this increase in loan guarantee will attract more money from Ohio banks for use by Ohio students at no cost to Ohio taxpayers (because of the 100 per cent federal re-insurance provision). H.B. 152 allows out-of-state students who attend Ohio schools to qualify for a loan and also requires any Ohio bank which receives state deposits to participate in the Student Loan Program. This bill will soon come to the Senate Floor for final action.

Logan Elm Art Students Earn Awards

Three Logan Elm High School art students were selected to receive awards of merit in Teacher's Choice! '77, an art contest sponsored by the Ivy School of Professional Art, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Logan Elm students Susan Barnett and Tim Hartranft each received an award and David Calton received two for his art works.

The program recognizes the indispensable role of the art teacher in educating and inspiring young art students to higher achievement and involvement in the visual arts.

Bill Chandler is the students' art teacher.

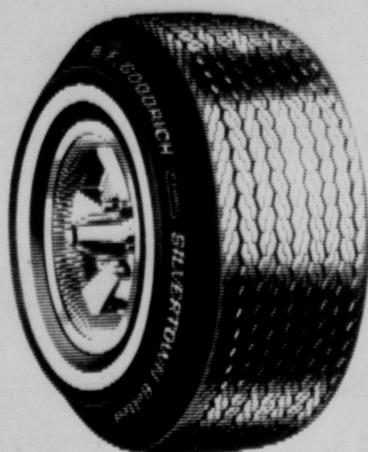

Strikers Charged In Plant Incident

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Three more strikers have been charged with disorderly conduct at the strikebound Pease Co. plants in Hamilton, Ohio and Fairfield, Ohio, police said Sunday.

The firm, which produces prefabricated housing and related products, was struck Feb. 28 by Local 1787, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners AFL-CIO.

The firm has filed contempt charges against the union for alleged violations of a court order limiting picketing activities. The charges will be heard in Butler County Common Pleas Court on Thursday.

Contact In Niehous Case Made?

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The first communication in eight months with the presumed kidnapers of U.S. businessman William F. Niehous was reported Sunday by Caracas newspapers.

The papers reported that they have received a new message from persons claiming to be the kidnapers of Niehous, 46 of Toledo, Ohio, who was taken captive more than a year ago.

The mimeographed message, accompanied by a photocopy of the first page of Niehous' passport, said the businessman continues to be submitted to "popular trial," but gave no further information about him.

The message also attacked the Venezuelan government and contained a threat to carry out new terrorist acts in the country. It was signed by the "Revolutionary Commando Group, Operation Argimiro Gabaldon," the same name used in earlier messages sent by persons claiming to be the kidnapers.

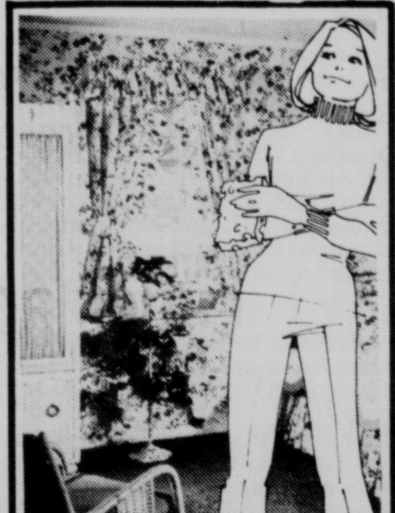

Niehous, local manager of the Toledo-based Owens-Illinois glass manufacturing group, was seized from his suburban Caracas home on Feb. 27, 1976, by seven armed men, dressed in both civilian and military clothing.

Communiques issued after his abduction accused both Niehous and Owens-Illinois of meddling in Venezuelan internal affairs and demanded payment of some $3.4 million in addition to other demands.

The Venezuelan government, which has forbidden any negotiation with the kidnapers, has said that all the abductors have been either arrested or identified, but no trace of Niehous has been found.

TV Drops District Thriller To River Valley, 42-39

Teays Valley lost its magic in the last two minutes of Saturday's Hilliard District final and were knocked from the Class AA tournament by River Valley 42-39.

The Vikes, who trailed only once in the first three periods, were the victims of four Donna VonKaelen layups and Carolyn Harbolt's six points in the final quarter.

Harbolt, RV's high-scoring 5-11 center, and VonKaelen, the Vikings' 5-1 guard, were able to establish River Valley's vaunted fast break in the final quarter, an offensive key for the Vikings that Teays Valley had eliminated throughout the game.

The Vikings from Teays Valley held a slim 31-28 lead at the beginning of the period when Von Kaelen scored a layup off the opening tip and gave RV the lead 32-31 with a fast-break layup at 4:23. Harbolt's rebound goal with 4:05 upped the score to 34-31.

But Deb Baxter shaved the lead to a point, 34-33, with 3:37 left and P.J. Stiles gave the Vikes a 35-34 edge at 2:46 when she popped in a rebound shot.

Harbolt's rebound jumper at 2:21 switched the one-point margin to RV's side before Baxter canned two free throws at 2:11 to give the Vikes a 37-36 edge, their last lead of the game.

VonKaelen scored two quick layups off long passes from Harbolt at 1:50 and 1:27 to give RV a 40-37 edge. Florie Mesner hit from under the basket with 38 seconds left to make the score 40-39, but Harbolt banged in two free throws on the final three seconds to seal the win for River Valley.

The Vikings appeared to have the game wrapped up with the opening tip, when Rita Slone crashed in for a layup.

Senior captain Perri Martin followed with a free throw, a shot from the key, and two more free tosses to build a 7-0 TV lead in the opening two minutes against a frustrated RV, which blew numerous fast-break opportunities.

VonKaelen scored RV's first basket at 5:49, but Teays Valley continued to score and had an 11-3 edge midway through the period. But River Valley came back strong to cut the edge to 11-9 at the quarter break.

After surrendering the lead briefly in the second quarter, the Vikings worked hard against RV's 2-3 zone to forge to a 26-21 halftime lead. TV made seven of their 13 free throws in the period.

But RV turned the tables in the second half, using a 1-3-1 zone defense to limit Teays Valley to only five points in the third period and eight in the final.

By winning the game, River Valley advances to the regional tournament at Otterbein's Rike Arena where they will meet defending Class AA champion Hartley Thursday night. Hartley nipped Wehrle 50-47 to gain the spot.

VonKaelen paced the RV offense with 12 points in the game, Carol Wagner had 10, Joyce Clum scored

POSITION — Rita Slone (40) unleashes a jump shot while Teays Valley players Suzy Jones (20), Perri Martin (30), Florie

Mesner (42), and Deb Baxter (12) position themselves for the rebound. The Vikes lost the District final game 42-39.

seven, and Harbolt hit for six.

Deb Baxter was the leading scorer for Teays Valley with 16 points. Perri Martin scored eight, Florie Mesner scored five, Rita Slone and P.J. Stiles had four each, and Suzy Jones hit for two.

Teays Valley had a poor shooting night, hitting 13 of 54 shots from the floor for 24 per cent. The Vikes were 13 of 20 at the foul line for 65 per cent, and were charged with 18 turnovers.

River Valley was 19 of 56 from the floor for 34 per cent, made four of six free throws for 67 per cent, and were charged with 16 turnovers.

Teays Valley controlled the boards with a 54-34 edge in rebounding. Martin claimed 14 rebounds for TV, Jones and Mesner had nine each, Stiles had eight, and Baxter and Slone had seven each.

Harbolt was the top rebounder for River Valley with eight.

Baxter had four steals for Teays Valley, while Slone, Mesner, and Stiles had three and Martin had two.

And Baxter led the team in assists with six, while Slone had four and Martin had two.

Coach Angie Rinehart's Vikings closed the year with a 12-2 record including their third straight Metro League title and second straight sectional crown. In post season play, the Vikes have played in District games in the first two years of the State tournament for girls.

The game was the last for TV's standout senior center Perri Martin and scrappy senior forward Suzy Jones.

Barberton Eyes Title Repeat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The pressure of 50 straight victories coupled with defending a championship?

"Naw," said Barberton Coach Jack Greynolds. "Not on these kids. There isn't a bit of pressure on them. They react to each game like it's their first one."

"The last 50 victories aren't going to help us any here."

Ohio boys prep basketball's most celebrated heart victim was assessing his team's shot at winning a second successive Class AAA state title, the first test being a semifinal showdown with Elyria.

Greynolds, decked by a heart attack before Barberton's first game, has recovered to guide the Magics in their last 11 contests. "I've calmed down a little—if we get a lead," he said of his fitness. "But we've had no pressure games. The closest was 11 points against Akron Firestone. It could easily have been 25."

Top-ranked Barberton, which faces No. 3 Elyria, also 24-0, at 6 p.m. Thursday, now has the third longest winning streak in Ohio boys basketball history. Middletown's teams of 1956-1958 posted 76 straight. Bellpoint in 1924-25 took 54 in a row.

"The last 50 victories aren't going to help us here," said Greynolds, aware there are three 24-0 teams in the Class AAA semifinals.

Second-ranked Columbus Linden-McKinley, 24-0, faces 203 Cincinnati LaSalle in the other big school semifinal at 9:30 p.m. Thursday in St. John Arena.

In the Class AA semifinals, No. 5 Cleveland Latin, 22-2, plays unranked Ottawa-Glandorf, 22-2, at 6 p.m. Friday, followed by No. 4 Columbus Mifflin, 21-3, vs. unranked Dayton

Jefferson, 17-7, at 9:30 p.m.

In Class A, Continental, 20-6, of Putnam County tangles with Fort Loramie, 18-8, of Shelby County at 11 a.m. Friday. Richmond Dale Southeastern, 23-1, of Ross County plays Mansfield St. Peter's, 21-4, at 2:30 p.m.

The only former champions in the 55th state tournament are Barberton, LindenMcKinley (1967-75) and St. Peter's (1968).

The championships Saturday call for Class AAA at 11:30 a.m., Class A at 3 p.m. and Class AA at 7:30 p.m.

Sanders, Bonnies Top Houston, 94-91

NEW YORK (AP) — Ever hear of a basketball player who recruits himself? Greg Sanders did.

"I sent St. Bonaventure a brochure about my high school career," says Sanders, "just to make sure they knew I was alive."

St. Bonaventure got the message — and then got Sanders. It turned out to be a happy correspondence.

Sanders became one of the school's best forwards and led the Bonnies to a dramatic 94-91 victory Sunday over Houston in the final of the 40th National Invitation Tournament.

"This is just a dream come true," said Sanders in the euphoria of the winners' lockerroom at Madison Square Garden. "This is just wonderful."

Sanders says that he had 150 offers for his services, but ultimately settled on St. Bonaventure "because I wanted and Class A Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South collected the 1976 crowns.

Jene Davis, LindenMcKinley's 30-year-old coach, is batting 1,000 at bringing teams to the final four. He's had the Columbus City League champions in the state tournament all three of his coaching campaigns, starting with the 1975 championship.

"This team's a little bit bigger and has much more talent than last year," said Davis, his team propelled by two-time AllOhioan Todd Penn, a 5-foot-9 guard. Penn has started in all three state tournaments.

to be a big fish in a small pond." He has developed into the team's leading scorer — and Sunday was certainly the big shot on the court. Sanders scored 40 points, including the go-ahead shot with 40 seconds left.

When Sanders first let the ball fly, St. Bonaventure Coach Jim Satalin was not sure it was a high-percentage shot.

"I looked at it and it was one of those 'No, no, no — oh, yes!' shots," said Satalin. "Had it not gone in, that would have been a bad shot. But since he scored, we'll say it was a good one."

The way Sanders was shooting, every shot was a good one. The cool, efficient junior hit 14 of 23 field goal attempts, many of them difficult, twisting shots that had the Bonnie-oriented crowd of 12,451 roaring with pleasure.

BATTLE FOR THE BALL — Flore Mesner, P.J. Stiles, and Perri Martin battle River Valley players for the ball during action in Saturday's game. Stiles came up with the loose ball and put it back in the basket for two of her four points.

City Bowling Tourney Begins At Circle D, Prairie Lanes

The Circleville Bowling Association launched the annual city wide bowling tournament on Saturday evening at Circle D and Prairie Lanes.

Emmitt Dade, President of the C.B.A., had the honor of throwing the first ball down lane number four at Circle D to start the action. Gary Belles of Boy Scout Troop 170, also participated in the opening ceremonies.

The team events will be staged at Circle D with the singles and doubles taking place at Prairie Lanes.

Leading scorers for the men after Sunday's events were, in the singles, Ron Tack, 713; Jim Patrick, 701; and Paul White, 700. In doubles, it was Walter Malone and David Massie, 1392; Larry Oiler and Dan Hindy, 1338; and Ron Tack and Victor Brannon, 1280.

In the team event, it was P.P.G. leading with a 3227; then came G.E.

Lamplighters with 3206; and Burton's Jewelry with 3140.

The bowling tourney continues on Saturday and Sunday for the next two weekends at both bowling lanes.

The annual awards banquet is scheduled for April 12 at Prairie Lanes, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Other officers in the C.B.A. are Joe Ebbrecht, secretary-treasurer; Walter Arledge, 1st Vice-President; and Ralph Tigner, 2nd Vice-President. Directors are Bob Strawser, Pete Strawser, Vaughn Grubb, and Kenny Welsh.

Three More In Memorial Field

If youth must be served as the slogan goes, the trend on the PGA Tour scene of young, unheralded players suddenly becoming winners almost from week to week, bears direct ramifications on the Memorial Tournament to be held May 19-22 at Muirfield Village Golf Club, Dublin, Ohio.

In the last four weeks, three winners not previously qualified have received invitations and all have accepted. They are: Andy Bean, Doral-Eastern Open; Gary Koch, Florida Citrus Open; and, Tom Purtzer, Los Angeles Open.

Breaking the pattern of late was Jack Nicklaus who interrupted the surge of virtual unknowns with a five-stroke victory at the Gleason Inverrary Classic to give the "name" players a return to the winner's circle. As a result of the three youngsters dominating the top-check department of winnings, the list of players eligible to participate in the Memorial Tournament has now increased to 89.

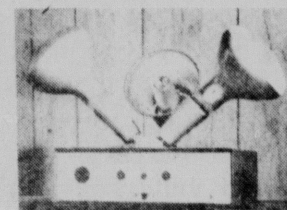

Already in the field is another young sensation, Bruce Lietzke, top money winner of 1977 with victories at Tucson and Hawaiian Opens. Other 1977 titleholders in tow are United States and Canadian Open Champion Jerry Pate who jumped off to an auspicious start by capturing the first event of the year - the Phoenix Open, and Rik Massengale, who took the Hope Desert Classic by a whopping six strokes.

Three former United States Open champions were among the first to file their entries: Hale Irwin, who lost to Roger Maltbie via a four-hole playoff at last year's inaugural Memorial Tournament; Gary Player; and, Lee Trevino, who again confirmed his entry, assuring the Memorial Tournament that his plans are definitely set for May 19-22.

"Combine these proven champions of many years with the 1977 surge of young winners and you have a very impressive field already - and with two months to go," stated Tournament Director Herb McDonald. "It is our hope to provide the best 105 players possible under this selection invitational format, and judging by the response to our invitations, we are achieving that objective," he added.

Meanwhile, preparations are rolling smoothly in the organizational phases of the Memorial Tournament, according to Co-Chairmen Pandel Savic and Bob Hoag. Many favorable comments were made about the volunteers and community spirit which contributed immensely to the success of last year's event, auguring well for 1977.

Petty Wins Atlanta 500

HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) — There is a sign on the wall in Richard Petty's garage which says, "There are good years, and there are bad years ... and then there was last year."

Petty had fewer victories last year in Grand National stock car racing than at any time in his career since 1961.

But now there is this year. Things have turned around completely for the six-time national champion.

"We've won two out of five so far this season, and I suppose with a little better luck, we could have had a chance to make it five out of five," Petty said after winning Sunday's Atlanta 500.

Petty's troubles — in the form of Cale Yarborough — were far behind him at the finish. Yarborough drove almost the last half of the race without brakes — a hair-raising experience.

Petty's brother Maurice told Yarborough, "We were lucky you had trouble."

Yarborough replied, "You're lucky any time you run all day with no trouble."

Flint Shuts Out Port Huron, 11-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Flint Generals chalked up what officials called their most one-sided game in team history by blanking Port Huron 11-0 in International Hockey League action Sunday night.

Ted Bulley scored three goals and Mike Powers had a pair for the Generals in the game at Flint. The winners, now in third place in the IHL North Division, hammered in five goals in each of the first two periods, and iced it with a single third period tally.

Goaltender Rick St. Croix turned away 41 shots to get the shutout, which boosted the Generals' record to 35-30-9 for the season. Port Huron dropped to 27-40-7 for fifth place in the division.

In other IHL games Sunday, Toledo clinched the South Division title by defeating Muskegon 7-0; Columbus nipped Dayton 4-2; and Fort Wayne defeated North Division leader Saginaw 7-3.

Class AAA Basketball Stars Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "He's a franchise," said one college recruiter after watching Herb Williams, The Associated Press' Ohio Class AAA Player of the Year in high school basketball.

"He's going to take some college a long way," said Marietta Coach Ed Paxton after his team was blistered by the 6-foot-11 Williams in a regional tournament game last week.

The big senior, who carries 25-point and 15-rebound averages, is the object of all major college coaches' eyes. He's being courted by such powers as UCLA, Maryland, Michigan, Alabama and Florida State.

He's the No. 1 priority in Eldon Miller's bid to turn Ohio State's sagging fortunes around.

Jack Greynolds, Barberton's gritty coach, won the other major award in Ohio basketball when he was named the AP's Ohio Class AAA Coach of the Year.

Greynolds overcame a heart attack before the season began to take over the Magics' reins and has them in the state tournament for the second successive year.

Greynolds has guided Barberton to 50 straight victories heading into Thursday night's state semifinals at Ohio State.

Mark Hayes Wins TPC Golf Tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The youth movement continues.

His victory in the Tournament Players Championship came as a mild surprise to Mark Hayes. But the quiet, 27-year-old used the wind as his ally and extended for still another week the youthful revolution that has shaken the pro golf tour.

With the season 11 weeks old, only Jack Nicklaus has been able to win against the horde of youngsters who, week after week, have bettered the best efforts of golf's established stars.

This time the supporting cast included some of the game's greatest names — Nicklaus, Tom Watson, Hale Irwin and Ray Floyd. All fired and fell back in the howling winds that turned the alligator-infested Sawgrass course into an unbeatable monster.

No one in the field of the world's finest players was able to break par for four rounds over the reclaimed swamp and marshland that the touring pros were playing for the first time.

"I was just concentrating on making pars," Hayes said after his even-par 72

ODNR Says Not To Litter

With the advent of warm weather many homeowners will soon be elbow deep in the usual spring cleanup around the house. The attic, the basement, and the garage are the prime targets because they seem to show the most accumulation of disposable materials over the course of the winter. A little later on will come the usual yard debris; lawn rakings, limbs from tree prunings and shrubbery trimmings.

Most urban areas have regularly scheduled trash pickups from the curb. In rural and other areas where there is no trash pickup, commercial haulers are available and for a few dollars will pick up and haul the trash to a sanitary landfill. For those people who have suitable transportation to haul their own trash, the landfills are also available to them.

Do not be one of those few individuals who insist upon throwing his litter along our streams, or into our streams and even our State Wildlife Areas. Most courts abhor this unsightly practice as evidenced by two recent decisions in the courts of central Ohio.

Game Protectors Emory Jividen and Warren Gross arrested Gary L. Kerns, 448 Lincoln Avenue, Marion, for littering a tributary to the Little Scioto River after Kerns had taken rubbish from the Lincoln Avenue address, drove out into the country and dumped it in and along the edge of the water. Kerns entered a plea of guilty before Marion Municipal Court Judge Charlton Myers, who levied a $50.00 fine plus $10.50 court costs.

In Fairfield County, Enforcement Agent Richard Pierce investigated a complaint of litter in a tributary of Clear Creek near Revenge. In checking the site in question, Pierce found what looked like two truckloads of building materials dumped along the edge of the water. The investigation led to the arrest of Robert N. Bray, 145 W. Fifth Avenue, Lancaster. The building material was from Bray's home which he was remodeling. Lancaster Municipal Court Judge Joseph Ralston found Bray guilty of stream litter and fined him $45.00 and $13.00 court costs.

Ron Lyle Beats Britain's Joe Bugner

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Boxing's heavyweight division took another turn Sunday when power-puncher Ron Lyle of Denver hammered out a 12-round split decision over British heavyweight champion Joe Bugner. Bugner was the fourth-ranked contender going into the fight, coming off a one-round knockout of Richard Dunn last October, while Lyle was ranked seventh, losing a decision to Jimmy Young late last year.

Ohio's waters and stream banks with their litter, can expect to get arrested and appear in court. Some judges have indicated that levying substantially heavier fines in the future and ordering litterers to spend a few days cleaning up trash along a section of stream may be the answer for those errant citizens who refuse to have their trash disposed of properly.

Porsches Again Sebring Victors

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Porsches again have dominated the 12-hour Sebring sports car race, sweeping the top 10 spots. But the manufacturer's fastest model, the turbocharged 934, will have to wait another year for a victory.

The pole-setting 934 owned by Jim Busby had to settle for third place Saturday after losing its left front wheel.

Various difficulties dropped the second fastest qualifier, a 934 driven by Danny Ongais, Ted Field and Hurley Haywood, to fourth. Fifth was a 934 driven by Gary Belcher and John Gunn, which had qualified fourth.

"We won by attrition," said Brad Frisselle, who joined George Dyer in a Porsche Carrera in taking top honors. "Our game plan was to just run steady, and it worked."

Ever since he managed the Texas Rangers, Yankee manager Billy Martin has lived in Arlington, Tex.

In Memoriam

In beloved memory of our son, Dennis E. Woods who passed away March 2, 1975.

We did not know the pain you had or hear your final sigh, Only know you went away without a last goodbye.

We found the strength to face it and courage to bear the blow.

But what it meant to lose you, no one will ever know.

Sadly missed by

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Excellent influences. You can give an exhilarating lift to a new project or brighten routine to the point where it actually becomes stimulating.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Do not dash headlong into day's activities no matter how much is expected of you or how much you wish to accomplish. There are "cloudy" areas to study well.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your intuition and foresight at a peak. Good ideas will come seemingly "from thin air." Act on them immediately.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A new work assignment may seem difficult to carry out, but a comprehensive discussion with close associates will produce useful ideas, guidance.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You usually like to solve your own problems, but don't arbitrarily reject another's idea. It may be more practical than your own.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some intrigue possible in occupational circles. YOU remain discreet and keep involvement to a minimum.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If you have been planning any changes in your home or property, now is a good time to start making them. Family will not only approve — but will help.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Friends will be especially helpful now — especially in being able to supply some much-needed data. They will also be able to give you certain objective insights which will prove invaluable in the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): A good day for finalizing agreements. Some unusual background activity will provide the spark that hurries matters through more quickly than expected.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): Take nothing for granted now and avoid jumping to conclusions. What seems a certainty could be otherwise. One more admonition: Don't try to force issues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Routine and detail work will probably bore you now, so get busy on a creative project you've had in mind for some time. Influences stimulate original ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A better day for completing old projects than for beginning new ones. In leisure time, devote yourself to a creative hobby.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a dynamic personality, tremendous ambition and an inner drive which propels you toward your goals with the blinding intensity of a comet. Few failures have been born on this date, though some of you may not fully realize your potentials. It is important that you find your niche early in life because you are so versatile that you may change roads frequently, thus scattering valuable energies before getting on the right track. Once there, however, your talents and determination can lead you to seemingly unattainable plateaus of success. Traits to curb: overaggressiveness and excessive volubility. Birthdate of Anthony Van Dyck, Flem. painter.

Vancouver, British Columbia, is Canada's major Pacific Coast port.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) —

Docu-drama is the name given TV movies that claim to recreate real events. Tonight, a variation of docu-drama is afoot. It's set in Louisiana, and I call it gumbo-drama.

NBC calls it "The Life and Assassination of the Kingfish." It's about Huey Long, the controversial Louisiana populist, governor, senator and, some say, dictator who was fatally shot in 1935 in Baton Rouge.

Starring Ed Asner as Long, filmed in Baton Rouge with at least 14 Louisiana-based supporting players, this two-hour film by Robert Collins is one of the hardest-to-follow historical tableaux I've ever seen.

Woe betide you if you aren't a serious student of Louisiana politics, of Long, his political machine and his machinations.

The show opens with a chap on a front porch at night, being told Long has been shot at the State Capitol and the alleged assailant — Carl A. Weiss, 29, a doctor — killed by Long's gun-toting bodyguards. The chap, an apparent Long crony, goes to the hospital where the wounded senator, famed for his "Share Our Wealth" plan to soak the rich, is being tended. Long's wife, Rose (Diane Kagan), then arrives.

Which begins a flurry of from-the-hospital flashbacks tracing Long's life, from the day he met his young future bride and told her he'd be president some day to the shot that ended his life at age 42.

(Long was 19 when he married Rose. Observers will note that Asner appears a mite older in the scene of budding romance.)

We get a look at his lean civilian days as a traveling salesman, touting what sounds like "cutlin." Subsequent research indicated the goods were Cottolene, a cooking oil.

Then it's back to the hospital, then to his early political days, his plans to redistribute the nation's wealth, and his political start in 1918, when he was elected a state railroad commissioner.

All this is covered in husband-to-wife dialogue, likewise his first race for governor, followed by a quick flashback to the hospital to introduce his brother, Earl (Fred Cook), who banters with reporters.

They ask Earl about his feud with his brother. But not until later do we get an inkling of part of the dispute: Huey, heading for the U.S. Senate, declined to back Earl for Lieutenant Governor.

And so it goes, hospital hubbub, political scandal, cries of "Every man a king!" and noisy peregrinations from state house to U.S. Senate and possible third-party battle against President Roosevelt.

Ill-defined characters float in and out, as do poorly-constructed scenes.

Asner, a good actor, seems miscast. But then he didn't have much of a script from which to work. It makes Long's incredible life and times seem naught but bayou hieroglyphics on a 21-inch screen.

The average annual price of an ounce of silver in Boston in the early 1700s ranged from seven paper shillings in 1700-1704 to 60 in 1749, reports the U.S. Census Bureau.

Haiti, the site of Columbus' first settlement in 1492, was under Spanish and French rule before becoming the New World's second republic in 1804, according to National Geographic.

DeMOLAY SWEETHEART — Miss Theresa Cushing, a sophomore at Circleville High School, was chosen as 1977 DeMolay Sweetheart for the Circleville Chapter during last week's observances of International DeMolay Week. Runner-up was Miss Paula Dunham, also a student at CHS. Pictured with Miss Cushing is DeMolay Master Councilor Dan Ervin.

Local DeMolay Week Observances Held

In the opening celebration of International DeMolay Week, Miss Theresa Cushing, a sophomore at Circleville High School, was chosen 1977 DeMolay Sweetheart for the Circleville Chapter. Runner-up was Miss Paula Dunham, also a student at CHS.

Crowning the new sweetheart was the 1976 Sweetheart, Miss Mary Garner. Nosegays of candy striped carnations were presented to each of the contestants, the runner-up, and the new sweetheart by DeMolay Master Councilor, Dan Ervin.

Co-hosting the competition with the Master Councilor was past chapter and past district sweetheart Miss Debbie Harber.

A reception was held in the Masonic Temple dining room following the competition. Refreshments were served by members of the DeMolay Mothers' Club to members of the DeMolay and their guests.

In other observances of DeMolay Week, the members were interviewed over WNRE radio. They were also recognized and supported by various businesses and patrons on a page of the Herald.

The members waited on tables at a dinner served to the Scottish Rite by the Eastern Star.

Friday was Fun Night, as the members and their guests were hosted at a party at the home of Barry Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby

Man Clubbed, Robbed By Thief

A thief, who clubbed a 79-year-old man in the head with a board, made off with an undetermined amount of money from his wallet.

John W. Furniss, Route 1, Orient, suffered a large contusion to the back of his head, according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Danny Dewey, but refused treatment for the injury.

Deputy Dewey, Deputy Bill Huffman, and Detective Donald Thompson searched the area but were unable to find the assailant.

Furniss, who operates a General Store in Matville was knocked semi-conscious during the assault. He apparently spotted a car leaving the area, but could not get a description of the vehicle.

According to Deputy Dewey, Furniss had closed his store and walked to his house, which is located on the Scioto Darby Road in Matville, between 8:30 and 8:45 p.m. Sunday.

As he was attempting to unlock the rear door of the house, the assailant came from behind and struck him in the head with a length of wood.

The money was taken from Furniss' wallet.

Deputy Dewey charged Timothy L. Dingus, 18, Route 1, Williamsport, with petty theft Saturday night.

Dingus was apparently attempting to syphon gasoline from a school bus at the Westfall High School when he was apprehended.

Young Life Campers Share Experience

Greg Brown and two Circleville students who attended a weekend with Young Life groups, will talk about the activities on Circleville's Christian Television Cable, Channel Five 6:30 p.m. tonight.

The three, plus Nancy Dettra, a Young Life counselor at the camp, will share the purpose, reactions and results of the weekend.

The weekly meeting of Young Life will be held 8 p.m. Monday in the room above the Pickaway County Library. All teens are welcome to join the activities.

'Plentiful' Beef Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has issued yet another alert to bargain-hunting consumers, noting that beef is expected to be in "plentiful" supply next month.

The surplus is a result of the high numbers of cattle put on feed last fall when grain prices moderated.

Although the better prices feeders hoped for then did not materialize, USDA said late last week, the cattle are ready for slaughter and swell the market. Meat production is expected to at least equal the April 1976 record levels.

In another report, USDA said that stocks of frozen beef in cold storage Feb. 28 were 34 per cent greater than a year ago.

Frozen pork stocks were down 5 per cent; canned meats, 20 per cent.

Over-all pork supplies were described as adequate in the food-marketing alert, however.

Also spotted as bargains were potatoes, with the bins bulging because of a March 1 record stock of 109.5 million hundredweight, and pears, with 3 million boxes ready to move to market.

Also on the "plentiful" list, which is aimed at volume buyers of farm goods and reporters, were chickens, milk and dairy products, rice, peanuts, walnuts, almonds, dry beans and canned sweet corn and green peas.

Butter stocks increased 50 per cent during February and are now six times greater than a year ago.

Service Training Offered Through Civil Air Patrol

On Feb. 26, 27 local boys spent a weekend at Rickenbacker Air Force Base as a part of their training for Civil Air Patrol (CAP). This organization is open to the entire family, with emphasis on Cadets; boys and girls between the ages of 13 to 17.

As an auxiliary of the United States Air Force, CAP members learn disaster procedures. They are trained to work with React and Rescue and the Red Cross, also.

The weekend trip for the youngsters was a training session. They learned the proper way to march and salute as well as service courtesies. During the instruction weekend, the youngsters are required to wear Air Force uniforms, which are furnished for the cadets.

Cadets and senior members, those members over 17-years-old, meet weekly at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Pickaway County Airport. At the present time, the organization is looking for people interested in joining. There is a yearly membership fee.

Commanding officer for the Pickaway County CAP is Lt. Dathan Mullins.

Those boys attending the weekend training at Rickenbacker in February were Rick Barker, Jim Barker, Steven Baird, Mark Waldick, George Mounts, Gary Allison, Dale Curry, Danny Mayhew, Paul Gloyd, Rick Bonifant and Dathan G. Mullins.

Anyone interested in joining the CAP should contact Lt. Mullins or attend one of the Thursday evening meetings.

District Winner Named In DECA

Another Circleville High School DECA winner during district competition March 10 was Tim Dietrich. He placed second in mathematics. His name was inadvertently omitted under the picture on the Red and Black page Friday.

Firm To Fight Utility Bill Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbia Gas of Ohio is expected this week to add its voice to complaints that a bill to regulate when utilities can shut off service will cost paying customers more money.

Senate hearings continue this week on the bill, which is aimed at making it more difficult for utilities to terminate service for nonpayment.

So far utility representatives have said that the bill, sponsored by Sen. Timothy McCormack, D-31 Euclid, would push up the amounts they write off each year in uncollectable accounts.

An Ohio Edison spokesman told the committee last Thursday that the bill also would put the cash flow of utilities at the mercy of county welfare departments.

McCormack's bill would force all public utilities to follow a strict procedure in making sure delinquent accounts meet three criteria before service is terminated.

First of all, the bill orders that accounts must be at least 30 days past due before shutoff procedures begin. Next the utility would be forced to call at the home of the past due account to try to collect or make payment arrangements.

And finally the county welfare department would be brought in to report to the utility and the Public Utilities Commission about the impact of the shutoff should it be ordered.

The current law differs from McCormack's bill in two areas. Utilities now are not directed to make the in-person visit to the delinquent account. Also the welfare departments do not enter the picture until after service is terminated.

And it is on the later change that a McCormack aide said amendments on the bill might be expected. Some members of the Senate Energy and Public Utilities Commission have indicated the role of the welfare departments in the McCormack bill is too cumbersome.

A representative of East Ohio Gas, serving northeast Ohio, claimed the bill might increase his firm's bad accounts writeoff from $3.2 million to $30 million a year.

That spokesman said his prediction is based upon experience this winter after PUCO issued an order that stopped gas utilities from terminating service for any reason until April 1.

He said the company during a normal February would send out 20,000 termination notices. This year, he said, the company would have sent 40,000 if it weren't for the PUCO order.

Sen. Neal F. Zimmers Jr., D6 Dayton, chairman of the committee hearing testimony on the bill, remains noncommittal about the legislation.

"The concept is fine as a concept," Zimmers said, "but we have to find out if its workable, its impact on the

Watch Out; Solons Plan To Simplify Tax Laws Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six months after changing the nation's tax laws in a way that resulted in a record number of taxpayer errors, Congress is talking "simplification" again. This time, the lawmakers say, they really mean it.

The House has passed and the Senate Finance Committee is considering a new method of tax-computation that the Treasury Department says will make the annual taxpaying process easier for 96 per cent of the population. It will result in a longer but far simpler tax form, the experts say.

The changes are part of a big tax-cut bill, including $50-perperson rebates, that the finance committee expects to approve this week.

The full Senate, meanwhile, hopes to complete work on a bill that would require senators to disclose their finances and would limit the income they could earn above their congressional salaries.

And in the House, debate begins Wednesday on a hotly disputed bill that would allow unions to picket an entire construction site, even though they have grievances with only one subcontractor. Similar legislation was vetoed last year by then-President Gerald R. Ford. President Carter has said he would sign such a measure.

The tax bill being written by the Senate Finance Committee originally was proposed by Carter mainly as a method of stimulating the economy. But he also recommended simplification of individual tax-filing after the Internal Revenue Service reported a sharp increase in errors on returns filed this year.

A large number of those errors are mathematical mistakes traceable to the computation of the standard deduction, used by those who don't itemize deductions. The simplification that Congress expects to pass this year would do away with that computation in almost all cases.

None of the changes in the current tax bill would affect 1976 tax returns, which must be filed by April 15 of this year. The simplification changes would be used a year from now when 1977 returns are filed.

The key part of the proposed simplification would, in effect, do away with the separate standard deduction. The deduction would be built directly into the tax tables, along with the personal exemptions and the $35-per-person tax credit.

As a result, a person who does not itemize deductions would find out how much tax he owes just by looking at a table. The only factor in determining what table to use would be the number of exemptions he claims.

The only computations would be to subtract any moving expenses, employe business expenses and tax-free retirement account payments from total income to arrive at adjusted gross income.

The changes also would simplify things for the 31 per cent who now itemize deductions. Their only computation above that required of non-itemizers would be to determine how much their itemized deductions exceed the standard deduction.

Son Also Loses As Voters Revolt

Election Ousts Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi probably will resign today following the loss of her seat in Parliament and reverses suffered by her Congress party in the Indian general election, official sources reported.

Mrs. Gandhi's foes already had begun talks to try to put together a government.

With returns in for 283 of the 542 seats in the lower house of Parliament, the new Janata (People's) party had 135 and could count on the support of nine more. Mrs. Gandhi's Congress party, which won two-third of the seats in the 1971 election, had only 103. Independents, regional groups and a handful of minor parties accounted for the rest.

Hours after the announcement that she had lost her own seat, the 59-year-old prime minister ordered the end of the state of emergency, under which she imprisoned thousands of her opponents, and the restoration of all civil liberties.

Proclaimed in June 1975 to keep her in office after her conviction on a charge of campaign irregularities, the emergency sparked a voter revolt that contributed to her downfall, the defeat of her son Sanjay in his first bid for office, and the eclipse of the ruling dynasty her father, the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, established 30 years ago.

The chief contenders to succeed her are two former leaders of the Congress party who broke with her, Morarji Desai and Jagjivan Ram.

Desai, now 81, was Mrs. Gandhi's deputy prime minister in 1969 when she split the party in a struggle for power with conservative leaders. He and other conservatives formed the Opposition Congress, and in January it merged with three other opposition parties to form the Janata.

Ram, the 68-year-old leader of India's Untouchable caste, was the agriculture minister in Mrs. Gandhi's last cabinet. He broke with her last month and formed the Congress for Democracy, which won seven seats in the early returns.

There was speculation that Mrs. Gandhi's defeat would produce more defectors from her Congress who would rally behind Desai or Ram.

Although separate parties, the Janata and Ram's Congress campaigned together and pledged to work together in the new Parliament.

No major shift in foreign policy is expected since the Janata's manifesto pledged adherence to India's traditional policy of nonalignment "free from any attachment to any power bloc." The party also pledged to restore all civil liberties and repeal the legislation Mrs. Gandhi put through during the emergency restricting freedom of the press and the independence of the judiciary.

Mrs. Gandhi lost her seat in Uttar Pradesh by 55,000 votes to Socialist leader Raj Narain, whom she had defeated in 1971 by 110,000 votes. Her 30-year-old son Sanjay, running for office for the first time after taking over leadership of the youth wing of the Congress party, lost the district adjoining his mother's by 75,844 votes.

Costs Of Congress Spiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Items from a billion dollar budget:

—In the 1955 edition of the Congressional Directory, the staff of the House Agriculture Committee takes up eight lines. In the 1976 edition, it takes up 39 lines.

—The Congressional Budget Office, created partly to help hold the line on governmental costs, has a staff of 208 persons. Eighty of them make more than $27,000 a year.

—Two offices in a House building are being converted to Ways and Means Committee hearing rooms. The estimated cost is $200,000.

These straws in the winds of congressional spending are part of what former President Gerald R. Ford was talking about in his farewell State of the Union message Jan. 12 when he said the number of congressional employees in the 1970s "has increased substantially, although the membership of the Congress remains at 535."

Ford noted the total budget for the legislative branch now exceeds $1 billion for the first time in history and said: "Congress now costs the taxpayers more than a million dollars per member."

But most members of Congress reject the title "billion dollar Congress," arguing that nearly three of every 10 dollars in that billion is spent for purposes other than running Congress.

Legislators who review the Congress' budget also say they vigorously try to keep down expenditures. Some members of Congress dispute this.

Deputy Comptroller Robert B. Keller, in a Feb. 25 letter to Sen. Walter D. Huddleston, D-Ky., said $765 million of the $1.05 billion legislative branch budget is for Congress' operation. Huddleston is chairman of the Senate subcommittee on legislative appropriations.

Other items include such things as $10 million for the Library of Congress to prepare brittle materials for microfilming; $10.3 million for General Accounting Office branches in Frankfurt, Bangkok, Panama City and Honolulu, which check on U.S. spending abroad, and $1.3 million for the U.S. Botanical Gardens.

However you slice it, it's part of the legislative branch budget. And it is immune from budget cutting by the president's Office of Management and Budget. The only review is by Congress itself.

Much of the spending is also exempt from the kind of auditing the General Accounting Office applies to the executive branch.

Comptroller General Elmer Staats cited "statutory prohibitions against questioning certain types of transactions" by Congress' and in testimony before a House subcommittee said his office can audit congressional committees, but not accounts of individual members.

Staats said such audits don't go beyond official records to determine whether expenditures were made as reported.

Keller disputed Ford's implication that Congress' costs are growing faster than executive branch costs. He said the congressional hike in the current budget is $70 million, or 8 per cent, compared with a 9 per cent increase in President Carter's over-all spending proposals.

Podgorny To Stir Up Africans

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nikolai Podgorny left Moscow today on a major Soviet diplomatic mission to southern Africa where he will meet leaders of black political and guerrilla movements fighting white regimes, diplomatic sources said.

Podgorny flew first to Tanzania. Cuban President Fidel Castro had left Tanzania hours before on his way to Zambia and Mozambique, and there was no indication the two men would meet.

From Tanzania, Podgorny is also scheduled to go to Zambia and Mozambique, two more of the so-called "front-line" black states supporting black nationalist movements in Rhodesia, South-West Africa and South Africa.

The Soviet leader was expected to warn the Africans to be suspicious of U.S. and British attempts to foster a gradual transfer of power to the black majorities in southern Africa. Moscow has called for the immediate transfer of power by the most effective means, and African diplomats say there have been promises of military aid for the guerrillas.

"The fate of southern Africa will not be settled on the banks of the Thames or the Potomac," Anatoly Gromyko, head of the Soviets' Africa Institute and son of Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, wrote in an article last week. He said the Western powers are patrons of the Rhodesian and South African regimes because Western firms reap "the highest profits in the world" from investments in southern Africa.

Diplomatic sources said Podgorny planned to stay in Tanzania until March 26, to visit Zambia March 26-29, and then to go to Mozambique.

Castro said Sunday in Dar es Salaam that he would like to increase Cuba's aid to Tanzania, but "our resources are preoccupied in Angola," the former Portuguese colony where Cuban troops and Soviet arms helped Marxist forces to victory over pro-Western rivals in a civil war last year.

Police, Deputies Team Up For Arrests

Alert teamwork on the part of the Circleville Police and the Pickaway County Sheriff's office has resulted in the arrest of two men believed responsible for an early Sunday morning break-in at the Super-X Drug Store in the Lancaster Pike Shopping Center.

According to the report, Ptl. Ken Henn and Ptl. Don Barton were dispatched to the Super-X Store at approximately 4:28 a.m. Sunday morning.

The culprits had smashed the glass from the front door of the store to gain entry. Once inside, the report states that they opened the drug safe, then fled the scene.

An intensive search of the area was started. Included were Henn and Barton, along with Ptl. Ron Thompson, Sgt. Larry Pontious, and Capt. Jerry Smallwood of the C.P.D., and several deputies from the Pickaway County Sheriff's Office.

The officers apprehended one subject a short time later on Griner Avenue. He was identified as Bobby Gene Anderson, 20, 249 Renner Court, Cincinnati.

The report states that Anderson's clothing was wet and soiled at the time of his arrest. He was tracked through the Pickaway County Fairgrounds before his apprehension on Griner Ave. He was also barefoot at the time he was apprehended, and a pair of tennis shoes that was found on the roof of a nearby residence matched footprints that were found in the Super-X Store.

Anderson appeared in Circleville Municipal Court on Monday morning. He is scheduled for a preliminary hearing on Thursday. His bond was set at $15,000. He was charged with breaking and entering, vandalism, and safecracking.

At approximately 10:15 Monday morning, while on routine patrol, Deputy Nick Franklin of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Office observed a subject matching the description of the second person involved in the burglary. He radioed for assistance from Deputies William Carmean and Jim Deal, and along with Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Detective Don Thompson the apprehension was made.

The subject, identified as James Martin Wilkening, 30, of Cincinnati, was brought to the Sheriff's office, where he was turned over to Sgt. Pontious and charged with breaking and entering. According to Pontious, other charges may be pending against Wilkening.

Wintry Air Marks Spring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weather conditions in much of the nation resembled those normally associated with winter, despite the official arrival of spring Sunday.

Snow fell overnight in parts of New England, Iowa, Wisconsin, Colorado, Montana and Washington.

A winter storm watch was extended through tonight in Lower Michigan.

Travel advisories were continued for parts of South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois, but warnings to motorists were dropped as snowfall slowed in southern New England and Wisconsin.

Rain was reported overnight along the northern Pacific coast, northern Florida and Kansas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from zero at Valentine, Neb., to 78 at Key West, Fla.

Rain was to fall today from the Mississippi Valley to the Ohio Valley, Appalachians and south Atlantic coast. Snow was expected in Iowa and the Great Lakes Region. Showers, with snow at higher elevations, was predicted for the north Pacific coast and Montana.

Smoke Detectors Enjoy Boom

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

A growing number of Americans are installing smoke detectors in their homes to provide an early warning system in case of fire.

The National Fire Prevention and Control Administration says 33 states already have regulations requiring the use of smoke alarms, usually in new houses, mobile homes and developments. Other states and some cities are considering similar rules.

The agency says it would like to see the devices in 25 per cent of all American homes by 1980 and in 75 per cent by 1990. About eight million smoke detectors were sold last year, up from only 50,000 in 1972.

Smoke detectors work by sensing the rising smoke from a fire and sounding an alarm loud enough to wake even heavy sleepers. They can detect smoke far from the origin of a fire and often will sound the alarm before flames are visible.

As the popularity of smoke detectors has grown, so has the number of models and brands on the market, making it more difficult for consumers to choose.

You should make sure you select a detector which has been approved by one of several major testing laboratories. There is no shortage of such detectors. Underwriters Laboratories Inc. says 98 brands of smoke alarms meet its standards. Prices for the detectors generally range from $20 to $70. Extra features such as test buttons are included on the more expensive models.

There are two basic types of smoke detectors: photoelectric and ionization chamber.

The photoelectric smoke detector contains a light bulb and a photocell. When smoke enters the detector, light from the beam is reflected from smoke particles into the photocell, triggering the alarm.

The ionization variety contains a small radiation source that produces electrically charged air molecules called ion. The presence of these ions allows a small electric current to flow in the chamber. When smoke particles enter, they attach themselves to the ions, reducing the flow of current. The change in the current sets off the alarm.

According to the fire prevention and control unit, "Both types of detectors are equally effective in the home." Ionization detectors generally will react more quickly to flaming fires; photoelectric detectors will generally respond faster to smoldering fires.

Ionization detectors generally operate on batteries. You have greater freedom of choice when it comes to deciding where to place the detector, but you also have to replace the batteries. Replacement batteries generally cost between $2 and $10.

Photoelectric detectors usually run on household current. They may be plugged into a wall outlet or wired permanently into your home's electric system. The permanent wiring should be done by an electrician and costs about $25 to $50. Like the battery-operated alarms, the photoelectric detectors include a device — usually a light — to indicate that the power is functioning.

Further information on smoke detectors is available in a free Commerce Department pamphlet, "Smoke Detectors: What they are and how they work." Write to the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

Weather

A low pressure system centered over the southern plains will move into Ohio tonight and bring precipitation. The weather today will have increasing cloudy skies and a 30 per cent chance of rain with a high near 45. There will be a 90 per cent chance of rain or snow tonight with a low near 30, and there is a 30 per cent chance of snow or rain tomorrow with a high near 45. The high temperature Saturday was 44 with a low of 38 and the high Sunday was 46 with a low of 25.

Carter, Fukuda Undertake Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Japan's Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda, newcomers to the international scene, are opening two days of talks on global economic and security issues.

A White House ceremony featuring military honors was scheduled today for Fukuda, who is here on an official visit.

Carter, who took office less than a month after Fukuda, has repeatedly stated that close consultation with Tokyo is a matter of highest priority for his administration.

The Carter-Fukuda talks are expected to focus on bilateral economic issues and on preparations for the May economic summit in London involving the United States, Japan and other industrial democracies.

The President also: —Called a meeting of his Cabinet and invited Vice President Walter Mondale and farmers from five states to lunch to mark American Agriculture Day.

The farmers are Jose Hinjose of Edcouch, Tex.; Homer Foster of Edcouch, Iowa; Tom Davis of Coulee City, Wash.; W. Robert Hawrigan of Fairfield, Vt., and James Frazier of Bucksport, S.C.

—Readied a comprehensive election

law revision plan for presentation to Congress on Tuesday, featuring what one administration official called "universal voter registration."

One administration source said the proposal deals with the electoral college and public subsidies for House and Senate campaigns, as well as voter registration.

—Is expected to receive a visit at the White House this week from former President Gerald Ford. "Exactly when it's going to be I can't say," an administration source said Sunday night.

One possibility for discussion is energy. Ford and Mondale are honorary co-chairman of the "Alliance to Save Energy," and Ford has endorsed the concept of Carter's proposed Energy Department.

—Taught Sunday school and attended services at First Baptist Church, where 9-year-old daughter Amy's nanny, Mary Fitzpatrick, joined and asked to be baptized.

—Announced that he met for 3½ hours Friday night with former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger as presidential advisers worked on negotiating positions for strategic arms limitation talks.

Socialist-Communists Win French Election

PARIS (AP) — The Socialist-Communist drive to win control of the French National Assembly next year picked up steam from runoff local elections in which the leftist alliance won a majority of the popular vote and control of 70 per cent of France's larger cities.

Sunday's defeat was the biggest ever suffered by the conservative-centrist coalition, forged by the late President Charles de Gaulle after he established the Fifth Republic 19 years ago. It opened a year of hard political fighting in preparation for the National Assembly elections scheduled for March 1978.

"There's a strong wind blowing, and the country has sensed it," said Socialist leader Francois Mitterrand.

"I don't say victory in the future is a sure thing, but it's certainly a good sign for the future," said Communist party leader Georges Marchais. "They've been saying for years that the left in power means the Apocalypse, but the people don't believe that anymore. We talk about what we're going to do and nobody gets scared.

Premier Raymond Barre and the government ran a demented campaign saying voting for the left equals collectivism. It doesn't work any more."

The left came out of the local voting on the past two Sundays controlling 156 of the 221 French cities with more than 30,000 population and 51 per cent of the total vote.

The moderates and conservatives who make up the National Assembly majority of President Valery Giscard d'Estaing got 47 per cent of the vote and kept 66 cities, including Toulouse, Strasbourg, Nancy, Metz and Bordeaux. Eighteen other cities went to parties and candidates who usually vote with the government.

The Socialists won control of 82 cities, the Communists 71 and other leftist groups not affiliated with them got three. The most impressive leftist wins were in Nantes and Rennes, conservative areas where the Socialists took control, and in Le Mans and St. Etienne, where the Communists won.

Judge Denies Bias Ruling Inescapable

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. Duncan disputes critics who claim he had no real choice but to find the state and Columbus city school boards guilty of fostering segregation in public schools.

The 49-year-old judge said that despite the trend of desegregation decisions, "in any case that involves civil rights, if the plaintiffs don't produce a good case, they're not going to get the decision. I have no reservations about that."

Duncan's remarks were made in an interview with The Associated Press—his first since ruling two weeks ago that state and local school officials are responsible for segregation in the 96,000-student system, Ohio's second largest school district.

Duncan declined to comment specifically on his decision, but admitted that "it was the toughest decision of my life" although "as far as the law is concerned, I haven't broken any new ground."

Duncan, appointed by former President Nixon as the first black federal judge in Ohio, described himself as a "constitutionalist" who believes that the law should be applied equally.

"As long as the orderly procedures of the court are followed, I've done my job," he said. "I have inner peace. The chips can fall where they may."

"I have a great amount of concern for the impact of my decisions, but judges don't make law," he continued. "We find out what it is and apply it."

River Cleanup Plans OK'd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirteen of 21 federal dam and river cleanup projects slated for construction in Ohio have been approved following an ongoing review by the Carter Administration, according to the office of Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio.

Glenn's office Saturday issued a list of 13 projects given a green light as "exempt from further evaluation" in the review of U.S. Army Corps of Engineers projects ordered earlier this year by President Carter.

The review has led to elimination of 19 federal projects in other states.

Of eight other projects still under review, the largest is the Gallipolis Locks and Dam, shared with West Virginia. The Corps' budget request for engineering and design work on that project was $1.4 million.

The 13 projects announced by Glenn as approved are: Point Place, West Harbor, Alum Creek Lake, Caesar Creek Lake, Chillicothe, Cuyahoga River Basin, East Fork Lake, Huron Harbor, Lakeview Park, Mill Creek, Muskingum River Lakes, Newark and Willow Is. locks and dam.

Budget requests in fiscal 1978 for the 13 projects total $22 million, Glenn's office said.

MISS MARY A. JOHNSON

Miss Mary A. Johnson, 79, 1701 Sunset Ave., Springfield died 10 p.m. Saturday at 301 E. Roseland St. following several months of failing health.

Born in Nelsonville, Ohio April 18, 1898, she was the daughter of Frank and Lena Hayman Johnson and was a graduate of Nelsonville High School.

Miss Johnson received a Bachelor of Sacred Literature Degree from Cleveland Bible College, a Bachelor of Religious Education degree from Malone College and a B.S. from Greenville College, Greenville Illinois.

She was the first missionary to represent the Church of Christ in Christian Union in India, serving there from 1928 to 1951 at which time she was transferred to the Texas-Mexican Border Mission Field for six years.

Miss Johnson returned to the Circleville Bible College and served four years as a missionary instructor.

She later assisted in the publication of the Missionary Tidings magazine until her retirement in 1974.

In October, 1976 she moved to Springfield to live with her sister, Mrs. Bertha Bartruff at the Sunset Ave. address.

She completed 49 years as an active missionary.

Since her return home she was an active organizer of missionary prayer bands in many local churches.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Clayton and Mrs. George (Gladys) Cartwright both of Springfield; five brothers, the Rev. Roy Johnson, For Pierce, Fla.; Lawrence, Springfield; James, Lakeview; Frank, Fairborn; and the Rev. Joe Johnson, London.

Friends may call at the Williams Funeral Home, 1330 E. High St., Springfield after 6 p.m. Monday and after 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Funeral service will be 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Woodside Church of Christ in Christian Union with the Rev. Carl Ogden, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Ferncliff Cemetery, Springfield.

MRS. EVA MAY MCCORMICK

Mrs. Eva May McCormick, 90, Clarksburg, died 8 p.m. Sunday in the Oakfield Convalescent Center, Washington C.H., where she had been a patient for three months.

Born April 1, 1886 in Pickaway County near Clarksburg, she was the daughter of Smith and Sophrona Ater Ater.

She lived all of her life in the Clarksburg Community and was a member of the Clarksburg Christian Church.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Gladson, who died in 1968, and a son, Ralph, who died in 1953.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Rolland (Darline) West, Washington C.H.; a son, Howard of Dayton; a sister, Mrs. Chate Draise, Chillicothe; nine grandchildren; 24 great-grandchildren; and nine great-great-grandchildren.

The funeral service will be 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. Michael Wright officiating. Burial will be in Brown Chapel Cemetery.

FBI's Kent Report Has Few Surprises

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The FBI has released the first part of its 5,000-page investigative file on the 1970 confrontation between national guardsmen and students at Kent State University.

However, the Akron Beacon Journal reported Sunday that findings in the report reveal little new information about the case.

Virtually all of the significant information in the closely held file has been disclosed in other forums—two federal court trials, the Scranton Commission hearings and U.S. Justice Department memoranda leaked or released to the press.

In response to a Freedom of Information request lodged by Knight Newspapers more than two years ago, FBI Director Clarence Kelley has authorized the release of 1,050 pages of the bureau's preliminary findings in the campus shootings.

Four students were killed and nine wounded by guardsmen during a campus antiwar demonstration on

May 4, 1970. The shootings capped a turbulent weekend of both on-campus and off-campus disorders, in the wake of the U.S. invasion of Cambodia on April 30 of that year.

The first phase of the FBI's investigation, as detailed in the file released this week, covered the six-day period immediately following the shootings.

Kelley said the FBI will release the rest of the information in the file "as it is processed."

The file reinforces doubts about the accuracy of eyewitness accounts and provides dramatic replays of how terror and fatigue combined to distort the guardsmen's judgment and perception of the scene.

Within hours after the shootings on May 4, the FBI, at the behest of then-Ass. Atty. Gen. for Civil Rights, Jerris Leonard, mounted a massive investigation.

The file shows that scores of agents from the bureau's Buffalo, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Knoxville, Pittsburgh, Springfield, Ill., Akron and Cleveland offices were ordered to Kent.

Out of a series of interviews in the six days after the shootings, the bureau drew a rough picture of what happened.

Most significantly, agents identified almost all of the guardsmen who shot their rifles and pistols in the 13-second fusillade that killed and wounded the students.

Brain Change By 'Grass' Said False

CHICAGO (AP) — There is no evidence that heavy marijuana smoking changes the structure of the brain or central nervous system, two research groups conclude, despite earlier evidence that part of the brain wasted away under prolonged smoking.

The new studies, carried out independently, are reported in the March 21 issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association.

The earlier study was reported in 1971 in Lancet, a British medical journal, in which researchers testing 10 young men who were heavy users of marijuana found evidence of atrophy in the brain.

The British study, conducted by Dr. A.M.G. Campbell of Bristol Royal United Hospitals and his colleagues, was done with an X-ray technique involving injection of air or gas to outline portions of the brain.

The new studies involved a recently developed X-ray technique, called computerized transaxial tomography, in which no gas injection is needed to outline sections of the brain as the head is scanned.

One was conducted by Dr. Ben Co, of the Washington University school of medicine in St. Louis, and by Dr. Donald Goodwin, of the University of Kansas school of medicine in Kansas City, Kan., and their colleagues.

The second was carried out by a team of Harvard medical school researchers headed by Dr. John Kuehnle.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, beginning the week on an uninspired note.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped nearly 2 points in early trading, but gainers took a slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market's weak showing last Thursday and Friday had dampened buying interest.

They also said traders were waiting to see what eventual form economic-stimulus legislation now before Congress would take.

Today's early prices included Bankamerica, up ¼ at 26½; Eastman Kodak, down ¾ at 70½; and Merrill Lynch, off ¼ at 19.

Merrill Lynch said last week its first quarter earnings were "not going to be very good" because of slack securities trading volume so far this year.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 3.82 loss to 961.02, reducing its gain for the week to 13.30 points.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 7-6 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume came to 19.84 million shares, against 20.70 million on Thursday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .09 to 55.36.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .26 at 112.46.

Prices paid to farmers by Pickaway Grain were:

A Page Of Opinion

Pluming The Male

Something has been happening to barber shops and beauty salons for some time, and the evolutionary process has not yet ended. First it appeared the ladies were threatening to take over the barber shops, once an all-male preserve. Then the men began to even the score.

Males no longer seek neat and simple haircuts. In ever increasing hordes, they are going to their favorite hairstylists with the aim of repairing the damage to the upper epidermis.

They want their hair again, and they will take it any way they can get it — loose, woven or planted.

"Men are more vain than ever," says a New York hairstylist whose clients include some of the luminaires of the entertainment world. "Even truck drivers and laborers spend $15 for a hairstyling these days."

But permanent waves, teasing, coloring, false sideburns, mustaches and beards are not all that are going on the male head. Wigs have become big sellers. So have hair transplants and hair reweaving, which involves an intricate process of weaving the remaining natural hair into a mat of artificial strands.

To go with his new coiffure, the resplendent male is indulging in all manner of lotions, hair sprays, and colognes. But it is his crowing glory which sets him off. And only his hairdresser can tell for sure.

Open To An Ex Caddy

By JIM BISHOP

It was a soggy September. The rich sat on the porch of The Country Club sipping whiskey. They smiled sympathetically at the ex-caddy, Francis Ouimet, yanked his cap down over his eyes and carried a canvas bag around the course.

They called him "boy." He was 20 and shy. He had two woods and six unmatched irons. He wore knickerbockers and a tie. Francis had entered his name in the United States Open. The rich men felt it was out of character.

Day after day he played the three nines - Clyde, Squirrel and Primrose. It was the best course in America, but there were several types of grasses in the fairways, the greens were in tiers. The Country Club in Brookline, Massachusetts, had been designed primarily for tennis courts and a race track.

Some people would come out to watch the Englishmen play. It was their game. The stars would be Harry Vardon, with his new overlapping grip, and Ted Ray, the long-ball hitter.

The men on the porch recalled that they had paid Francis Ouimet 28 cents a round for carrying clubs. Now, in 1913, he had coaxed a 10-year-old schoolboy, Eddie Lowery, to carry his. Francis was becoming bold.

The British were kind to the boy. They stepped aside and saw the frightened expression in his brown eyes, the tension running up his arms. After two rounds, Harry Vardon and Wilfred Reid of England led at 147. Ted Ray and his long, wild hits were two shots back. McDonald Smith and Jim Barnes had 150.

Ouimet was tied with a chubby kid named Walter Hagen at 151. The club members applauded. Their caddy was only four strokes back of the champs. He should quit. He had made his point. Ouimet asked Eddie Lowery if he would remain home from school tomorrow. Eddie nodded.

On the third day the rain was windless and steady. Well-hit balls exploded in water. Francis fired a 74. Vardon and Ray carded 78s. The British began to address the skinny boy. He said "Yes sir" and "No sir."

The members of The Country Club celebrated. By God that youngster showed the English how to putt. On the fourth day they got off the porch to watch. Balls sank in the fairways. Ray came in first with a 79 for a total of 304.

Harry Vardon, grim and irritated, three-putted too many greens. He had a 79 for a two-way tie. Barnes, Hagen, Reid all died on the back nine. Ouimet came to the 13th needing two birdies to tie.

He was 30 yards off the green in two. The skinny kid chipped. The ball fell in for a bird. He parred the long 14th, the 15th and 16th. On the sharp dogleg 17th, Francis hit his best drive and whacked a second shot 20 feet behind the pin.

The crowd choked in silence. Ouimet hit the putt solidly. It ran for the cup, hit the back, bounced up, and dropped in. He had his second birdie. On the 18th, all he required for a tie was a par. He hit a good drive. The rain was in his eyes as he hit an iron to the edge of the green.

He chipped delicately five feet short of the pin. Nobody breathed. The frightened eyes scanned ball to hole. He couldn't take his time. He hit it and sunk it. The American crowd went wild.

Eddie Lowery said he'd play hookey. Ouimet thanked him. "It's a wonderful mood," he said. "I'm numb." Vardon and Ray stopped smiling at the boy. They played their hearts out. After nine holes of the playoff, all three were dead even.

The tenth was 140 yards, par 3. Vardon tried too hard. He was short. Ray had too much club. His ball died on the back of the sloppy green.

Zoo Animal Abuse Said Public's Fault

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Early this year Methuselah, an old alligator at the Los Angeles Zoo, was attacked by an unknown vandal who nearly put out his eye. A week later, another visitor who wanted more action in the alligator pond poked Methuselah in the injured eye, damaging it permanently.

At the New London, Conn., zoo a 13-year-old deer lost a fetus she was carrying after she was beaten with heavy sticks early in March. Another deer was beaten but managed to escape its attackers.

A janitor at the Buffalo, N.Y., zoo was charged last winter with cruelty to animals after he allegedly beat and scalded a Celebes ape. The janitor was acquitted, but the small primate had to be destroyed due to the extent of the burns it suffered.

Such incidents still occur at zoos throughout the country but not at the level of a few years ago, most zoo officials say. They say that increased security and newly imposed or higher zoo admission prices are largely responsible for the decrease.

After a 1974 survey showed the Atlanta Zoo was losing "thousands of dollars through theft, animal abuse and vandalism," a $1 admission fee was imposed and the security force was strengthened, said zoo director Steve Dobbs.

"Since three years ago we've seen a drastic decrease" in animal abuse, he said. "Vandalism and theft have also decreased."

Dr. James Savoy, director of the

Francis dropped his ball 15 feet from the pin. He missed the putt for a deuce. The British three-putted.

Vardon and Ray seemed to be obsessed with the thought that they could lose to a Yankee caddy. On the par 4 15th, Ray hit an over-the-hill drive so hard he knocked the derby off a spectator. He drew a six. He was four shots behind Ouimet, three behind Vardon.

On the 17th, Harry Vardon hooked his drive into the trees. He hit a wedge onto the fairway, reached the green in three, and two-putted for a bogie. Ouimet decided to test his nerves. He was on in two, and sunk an 18-footer for a birdie.

Ray was out of it. On the 18th the great Vardon collapsed with a double bogie. Francis was on in two. He two-putted to beat Vardon by five strokes. An Englishman wrote: "When we are old men, children will ask us to tell them again the romantic story of the 20th of September, 1913." ...

Detroit Zoo, said attacks on animals have decreased in the past two years and much of what occurs now is due to ignorance on the part of zoo visitors.

"If the people did something because they just weren't thinking, we scold them," he said. "If there is an indication it was planned, we don't hesitate to prosecute."

At the Potter Park Zoo in Lansing, Mich., where a 40 pound raccoon was killed and skinned, three deer were beaten with a spiked board and four birds were stolen, director Douglas Finley said the level of violence against animals is up sharply since 1975 when the zoo's design was changed to make the animals more visible to the public.

"Zoos used to be designed with chains, bars and concrete," Finley said. "Now we've made them more accessible for viewing the animals — and apparently also made the animals more vulnerable."

Two 19-year-old high school students were arrested in the Jan. 4 incident at Lansing and were fined $75 and sentenced to 90 days in jail.

"I can't believe the worst we can do, the worst punishment we can get for something like that is 90 days in jail," Finley said.

Coal Firms Being Sued

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Six Schuylkill County coal companies have been sued by the federal government for failure to pay penalties for safety violations.

U.S. Atty. David Marston filed enforcement actions here Friday, seeking suites up to $1,500 per company. have repeatedly refused to pay penalties assessed under the Coal Mine Health and Safety Act. He said federal mine inspectors had turned up such violations as failure to seal closed mine shafts safely, inadequate ventilating systems and dust control, failure to provide adequate roof supports and failure to provide the required protective equipment for miners.

Named were H. and S. Coal Co. and Knorr Coal Co., both of Heggies; Goss Coal Co., Sunbury; Herring Brothers & Lucas Coal Co. and D. and R. Coal Co., both of Pine Grove; and the Split Vein Coal Co. of Paxinos.

Identified Flying Objects In Space

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — There were 1,117 manmade objects in space at the end of 1976, according to the North American Air Defense Command.

The number of satellites and pieces of debris from fragmented rocket bodies is up from the 1975 record of 929 objects.

"Just bark. I'll take you out."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My son is a boxer and wrestler in his first year at college. We watched him wrestle and were proud that he won his class. Afterwards, he was wiped out with fatigue. He told us that he was exhausted before the match because he had to "make his weight." He was seven pounds too heavy five hours before his match. Don't you think this is dangerous?

Mr. W. P., Pa.

Dear Mr. P.: "Making weight" is a strenuous technique by which boxers and wrestlers come down to a class weight in a hurry. By means of sauna baths, steam rooms, hot rubber packs and limiting fluid, rapid weight reduction can be accomplished.

Sometimes, contrary to good medical judgment, water pills and even strong laxatives are used.

All of this hurried emphasis on weight reduction can be treacherous. Coaches in high schools and colleges are being advised by the American College of Sports Medicine to cease these rigid and dangerous practices of fluid deprivation.

Any such rigorous process which effects the health of the wrestler or boxer should be eliminated. Weight reduction can be accomplished by starting a sensible reduction program long in advance. In this way, the good health of the student can be maintained.

We had a ghastly experience. I want to pass it on to you so you can tell your readers about it. Perhaps in this way other children might be spared what we had to live through. Our 3-year-old daughter was playing with, and swallowed, a metal pull tab that my husband had removed from a beer can. It had to be removed under general anesthesia.

Mrs. T. D., Ohio

Dear Mrs. D.:

Thank you for calling to our attention this potential hazard. These tiny metal strips seem to attract the attention of young children. As you know, youngsters are apt to pop almost anything in their mouths that they happen to be playing with.

Your experience, apparently, is not entirely unusual. Dr. John D. Burrington, of the University of Chicago, reports that he has treated, during a period of three years, seven children who had either swallowed or sucked into their lungs these pull tabs.

The complications that arose in some of these cases were enormous. Parents and baby sitters should take note of this and see that metal tabs are always carefully discarded.

Man Eats Breakfast Cereal With Magnet

SEATTLE (AP) — Rick McDonald eats his breakfast cereal with a magnet — quickly, before it rusts.

McDonald discovered the other day that the cereal he was eating — "Frosted Rice," a mineral-enriched cereal made by the Kellogg Co. — was laced with so much iron he literally could pick up bits of it with a magnet.

"Tiny black specks, that's what I saw," McDonald recalled. "They were all over the bottom of the dish, floating in the milk."

The 29-year-old television repairman

suspected the residue in his cereal bowl was dirt or a form of iron used in cereals which are enriched with vitamins and minerals. The body requires a certain amount of iron in the daily diet, mainly to produce hemoglobin, the part of blood which carries oxygen.

McDonald checked by holding a magnet over the specks. They clung to the tip. A few sweeps and the dish was spotless.

A Kellogg executive told a local newspaper there is nothing harmful about the little black bits.

"It just doesn't look too good," he said.

Kellogg officials at company headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich., were not immediately available for additional comment.

McDonald felt the Kellogg folks had certainly given him his money's worth of mineral enrichment. But he didn't appreciate it.

"I thought, 'how rude of them to put this in my breakfast,'" he said.

He called the company for an explanation and, a few days later, received a refund check for $1.15 to cover the price of his purchase, along with an apology for the "experience with our cereal."

The executive who talked to the newspaper said there is a simple explanation for the cereal's odd characteristic: The iron is mixed into the sugar coating rather than with the cereal itself, and comes off when the cereal is soaked in milk.

There was no immediate explanation of how the mineral solidified out of the milk solution.

To remedy the situation of the unappetizing visible specks, the executive said, the company has cut back the amount of iron enrichment in Frosted Rice from 25 per cent of the minimum adult daily requirement to 10 per cent.

Antioch Work Program Has Pains

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Antioch College, which pioneered in a work-study program that sends its students anywhere from "scaling mountains to selling thread at Woolworth's" is experiencing growth pains.

For a change the problem doesn't involve Vietnam or the minority rights issues prominent in the past. This time, the problem is one that face most colleges—lack of money.

The chancellor of the financially troubled liberal arts college, Dr. Francis X. Shea, resigned last week as head of the Yellow Springs campus, citing difficulties in raising money and criticizing a system that has expanded to include 20 other campuses in this country and five overseas.

"A year ago, the whole system was flat on its back and had very little chance," said Shea, former president of St. Scholastica College in Duluth, Minn.

However, Antioch was able to raise $2.6 million, mostly in alumni endowments, this year. "We're making it now, as the other campuses are, but we're barely making it," said Shea.

"My job has been to pull (the school) together and I think we've managed to do that," he said.

Antioch, founded in 1853 and one of the nation's oldest experimental colleges, was one of the first to establish the workstudy program in which students spend half their time off campus working at service jobs that now take them to various parts of the country and the world.

"We maintain, at a remarkably low cost, a luxurious student-teacher ratio in the classroom (1-to-9)," Shea said. "And we have one other genuine uniqueness—we require students to spend half a year doing everything from scaling mountains to selling thread at Woolworth's."

Shea, 51, a former Jesuit priest, says the Yellow Springs campus is in need of repair, and must aggressively recruit new students.

Students seem to be following a national trend toward the practical disciplines of science, business and technology. But the lack of a grading system makes some parents wary of paying the considerable tuition charge. That, combined with a reputation as a trouble spot during the Vietnam era, has prompted some organizations to specify that their money not be given to Antioch, Shea said.

William Birenbaum, president of the Antioch system, downplayed Antioch's financial problems.

"Antioch, like the majority of educational institutions these days, is living on the razor's edge of balancing a budget," he said. "Considering what it's been through, Antioch's state of insolvency compares remarkably well with other states of insolvency (at other colleges)."

Birenbaum, former head of the Staten Island branch of the City College of New York, said one of his first tasks since assuming the post last September has been to reorganize the 7,500-student system.

"It is a system that has not been managed," said Birenbaum. "Whether it can be managed is another question. I'm optimistic."

Counselor Recognized By AAM&FC

DR. GENE MENDENHALL

The Rev. Dr. Gene Mendenhall, pastoral counselor of the Scioto Paint Valley Mental Health Center, Chillicothe, has been accepted into clinical membership in the American Association of Marriage and Family Counselors.

The Rev. Mendenhall works at the Pickaway County Mental Health Clinic at Berger Hospital on Mondays and Wednesdays.

The major aim of the AAM & FC fellowship is to maintain the highest professional standards in the field of marriage counseling. Requirements for membership are:

The member must have a minimum of an earned master's degree in the mental health field; 200 hours of approved supervision of the practice of marriage and family counseling; 1,000 hours of clinical experience in the practice of marriage and family counseling under approved supervision involving at least 50 different cases.

Robert T. Aldenderfer, Columbus, trafficking in drugs, bound to grand jury on recognisance bond.

Glass Container Plants To Sell

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Anchor Hocking Corp. and the Latchford Glass Co. announced on Friday that agreements in principle have been reached for the purchase by Latchford of Anchor Hocking's glass container plants at Los Angeles and San Leandro, Calif.

The two plants manufacture containers for food, beverage, liquor and wine producers.

The transactions are subject to final approval by both firms and are expected to be closed in early April, the companies said. Purchase prices were not disclosed.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Open Marriage A Sex Smorgasbord

DEAR ABBY: You told a woman who was in love with a married man: "Send him home to his wife and children . . ."

Abby, this is 1977. Why didn't you tell her to ask her married lover to be honest with his wife about her, and try to develop an "open marriage" that would include the girlfriend too?

A marriage doesn't have to be exclusion to be good. Each of us can love more than one person. Why be hypocritical? If there were fewer "either-or" ultimatums, there would be fewer divorces.

After 28 years of a monogamous marriage, my wife and I decided to "open" our marriage to include others. I now encourage and help my wife to have outside relationships with other men, and she does the same for me with other women. Our open marriage has revitalized us and strengthened our marriage.

OPEN AND HAPPY

DEAR OPEN: I didn't suggest an "open marriage" because I wouldn't advise anyone to do what I myself wouldn't do. Marriage is (or should be) a sacred covenant between two people, and to "open" it to include others is a violation of that covenant.

It may be possible to love more than one person, but in a civilized society, it's one at a time. The "group" thing, which includes many partners, is not a "love feast" - it's a sexual smorgasbord.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with your comment about the 73-year-old woman signed TALKS TOO MUCH, "Your son did you a kindness to tell you so."

However, I have a better way to find out if I'm talking too much. If someone interrupts me, I just keep quiet. And if nobody asks me what I was saying before I was interrupted, I know I've been talking too much.

D.D.J. IN SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

DER D.D.J.: Horray for you. Most people would say, "As I was saying. . ."

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the letter about a sixth grade teacher telling a dirty joke to his class:

I have six children (the youngest in the seventh grade) and have worked as an aide in an elementary school for eight years, and I have a message for parents:

If you dislike something your child tells you happened at school, talk to the teacher. Sometimes a child misunderstands or, unfortunately, lies. If the teacher's explanation doesn't satisfy you, to go the principal.

If it is something serious or dangerous, and you are CERTAIN of your facts, state your concern in writing and send it to the personnel department of your school district.

Get involved; see what is happening at your child's school. But remember, too, that neither your child nor the teacher is perfect.

FOR THE KIDS

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: For the most readable and honest book ever published about Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt, get "My Parents" by James Roosevelt, their oldest son. It's rich in political history and will give you an intimate look at a fascinating family.

In an effort to keep society news current, The Herald has established the following policy concerning wedding news:

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

TAMMIE LYNN CUPP

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cupp, Stoutsville are announcing the engagement of their daughter Tammie Lynn to Mr. David Nelson Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boyer, 650 E. Ohio St.

The bride elect is a senior at Amanda-Clearcreek High School.

Mr. Boyer is a 1976 graduate of Circleville High School and is currently employed at K-Mart in Chillicothe as a mechanic.

The wedding will be an event of June 25.

BPW Will Meet

The Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club will meet on 7 p.m. March 24, at the Pickaway Arms.

Chairman, Mrs. Etha Mae Wolford states reservations should be made by March 22 to either her or the president, Mrs. Louise Hill.

Xi Eta Epsilon Enjoys Night Out

Seven members of Xi Eta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi recently spent an evening in Columbus dining and shopping at the Colony Bazaar.

The next meeting will be held 7:30 p.m., April 5 in the home of Donna Root, 99 Bolens Ave.

Election of officers for the coming year will be held and voting on "Girl of the Year" will also be held.

All members are urged to attend.

CB Interference Remains Unsolved

WALLINFOR, Conn. (AP) — It's disconcerting, says the Rev. W. Robert Alter, "particularly in the middle of a sermon."

He's talking about interference, a variety of strange noises he attributes to Citizens Band hobbyists, that has become an almost weekly occurrence over the public address system at Faith Baptist Church.

In simple terms, any wire leading to an amplifier can act as an antenna and pick up CB signals being broadcast nearby.

A spokeswoman for Channel Masters, one of several CB clubs in the Wallingford area, said the problem might be with the PA system or with a CB base station nearby. She said an appeal from the minister might resolve the problem.

But the Rev. John F. Heuchert of Wallingford's First United Methodist Church suggested another solution. "We use natural voice power," he said.

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — If you

find yourself a mite hungry along the road around here, it's nice to know there's a good buddy waitin' up ahead.

That's the way Citizens' Band radio buffs feel about Breaker, Breaker, a 2½-month-old cafe along highway I-six-oh in the quiet ranching community of Rubidoux, just west of Riverside.

Breaker, Breaker caters to CBers and even allows customers to call in orders by radio and have the meals waiting when they arrive.

"At least 90 per cent of our business is CBers, but we want to cater to everyone — CBers, truckers and the general public," says Joyce Kurtz, better known as Patches.

The restaurant's co-owner, Maureen "Moe" Hemphill, feels Breaker, Breaker is catching on largely because of its fare.

"Its hearty and it's homemade," she says. "The food in most other restaurants all tastes the same. Here

Earthworms Next Gourmet's Delight?

SEATTLE (AP) — When you peddle earthworms as food fit for humans, there's nowhere to go but up. Sure enough, Ronald Gaddie is reporting progress in his campaign to popularize the dish.

For a second year, Gaddie's North American Bait Farms Inc. is sponsoring a nationwide worm recipe contest. Gaddie says the number of entries has soared over last year — from 200 to 500.

Last year's winner was Earthworm Applesauce Surprise Cake.

"Try 'em, you'll like them," said Gaddie in a telephone interview from Centralia, Wash., where he teaches classes to prospective earthworm raisers at Pacific Northwest Bait and Ecology. That firm sells worms to Gaddie's company, which is based in Ontario, Calif.

Worms "taste like shredded wheat," said Gaddie. "I like them best in oatmeal cookies, but I've eaten them with rice, sprinkled on top of salads rather than bacon bits, with scrambled eggs and with steak and gravy."

For those concerned about nutrition, Gaddie says earthworms are 72 per cent protein and less than one per cent fat. For those who like the terminology of haute cuisine, there is always the name "ver de Terre."

Mary Croslin, who owns Pacific Northwest Bait and Ecology, is raising 5.3 million worms in beds filled with manure.

"It's kind of shocking the first time you eat one, but now I don't even think about it," she said. When salted they taste like jerky, she said.

Gaddie said he once ate worms every day for three months.

"They didn't hurt me," he added.

Order Review Of USDA Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob S. Bergland has formally ordered the job-by-job review of the roughly 10,000 USDA employees in Washington to see whether their work can be ended, combined into fewer positions or simplified.

He promised such a review in late January after taking office.

He repeated Friday that "no one will lose his or her job as a result of this review" but slots might be abolished as they become vacant.

Agency supervisors were told to submit their recommendations by April 15 on the number of jobs that could be eliminated and any suggestions they had on reorganizing their operations.

Bergland also said that he has told those administrators to report by May 15 on whether 97 advisory committees should be maintained or abolished. The secretary terminated 11 of the panels last month as unnecessary.

His memorandum said that no new advisory committees would be established during the review period. Charters for existing ones would not be extended, but they could continue activities already scheduled, he said.

Bergland told Congressmen privately Thursday that he intends to allow several panels with charters expiring this spring die off, but would retain some 50 forestry advisory panels that consult with USDA on conservation practices at the county level.

Grange News

SALT CREEK GRANGE

"Wearin' Of The Green" was the general theme for the March 15 official inspection meeting of Saltcreek Valley Grange. Hoyt Timmons, the Master, welcomed Frank and Mary Kathryn Lands, Ohio State Grange Deputies for Pickaway County.

Mary DeLong reminded fellow members of the baking and sewing contest scheduled for the April 5 session and the national contests. She asked for help at the NFO banquet.

Legislative Agent Wayne Cryder reviewed the bills being placed in the State Senate and House hoppers for special attention. Esther Collins, secretary, read a letter from Cooperative Extension Service expressing appreciation for help with the 4-H award contests at the County Fair. There was a unanimous decision to continue this community project.

Timmons read a news letter from the National Grange which gave details of the restoration of the National Grange Building in Washington D.C. which began in 1959. Plans were made for a mock mortgage burning ceremony at Wolfe Hall March 25, the date of the actual mortgage burning at National Headquarters. This open meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a cooperative meal.

A message from the State Master told of the recent Pike, Ross, and Pickaway County conference concerning needs and interests related to organization progress — state as well as nation.

Greetings were sent Fred DeLong recuperating at home after release from Berger Hospital.

The Irish program was directed by the lecturer Barbara McKenzie.

WASHINGTON GRANGE

Washington Grange met for their regular meeting March 8 at the Washington Township School.

Worthy Master Lydia DeLong was in charge of the business meeting and it was noted that all officers were present.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Lands, County Deputies, were present and inspected the meeting.

The Youth Committee report was given by Brenda Bolender.

The CWA chairman, Diana Lands, announced that the Grange will be serving at the next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile on March 24. She also stated that the grange will be assisting to serve the NFO Banquet on April 2.

The charter was draped in memory of Byron Bolender, a 50-year member of Washington Grange. A report of the Resolutions Committee was given by Ralph DeLong.

Pat Rickard, lecturer, presented the program featuring readings and contests.

CIRCLEVILLE CITY SCHOOLS

Separate, sealed proposals for each of the requirements set forth below will be received at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education of the Circleville City School District, Pickaway County, Ohio, until 12:00 o'clock noon E.S.T. April 12, 1977 and will be publicly opened and read immediately thereafter at the superintendent's office, 520 South Court Street, Circleville, Ohio. The award will be considered at the next meeting of the Board.

Description of Improvement - Roof Repair - South Court Elementary, Atwater Elementary, Nicholas Drive Elementary. Copies of the specifications, instructions to bidders, and proposal forms may be obtained at the office of the Superintendent of Schools, 520 South Court Street, Circleville, Ohio.

A certified check payable to the Clerk-Treasurer of the above Board of Education or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and a surety company, in an amount equal to five per cent of the bid, shall be submitted with each bid.

Said Board of Education reserves the right to waive informalities, to accept or reject any and all or parts of any and all bids. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory performance bond for one hundred per cent of the contract price.

Tax Bill Brings Assembly Discord

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two powerful House Democrats, who are often in concert of major legislative matters, have hit a discordant note on a controversial school income tax bill.

After reading a published report that said the bill had met no major opposition, Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, fired off a letter to the sponsor, Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo. Both lawmakers are practicing attorneys.

"I don't know if my view constitutes major opposition," Lehman wrote, "but I want you to know that I am unalterably opposed to (the bill)."

Lehman said most of his constituents were already paying four income taxes and should not be burdened with a fifth. The legislation would permit local votes on imposition of a school district income tax to replace property taxes as a major source of funding for school operations.

Wilkowski introduced the bill after Toledoans defeated for the third consecutive time a property tax levy and schools there closed some three weeks early for Christmas vacation.

To Lehman, however, a local income tax is not the answer to school finance problems. "Let's bury it," he told Wilkowski, "and get on with the real business of this legislative session."

Wilkowski was quick to reply. "Your rhetorical question as to whether or not your view constitutes major opposition, please be assured that it does not," he wrote Lehman.

Wilkowski listed the Ohio Manufacturers Association as a major opponent, and told Lehman: "We all become at times obsessed with our own importance."

He also suggested that Lehman had not read his bill and said "the last person who wanted to bury something (Lehman's recommendation for the bill) was Nikita Khrushchev. I understand we buried him first."

"I do not want to do anything that would hamper your efforts to be elected attorney general," the outspoken Wilkowski concluded. "In fact, I intend to help you in your campaign. But, Harry, you need not seek campaign issues at the expense of sabotaging or attempting to derail, meaningful legislation."

Lehman, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has been mentioned as a candidate for attorney general in 1978.

"I did note one positive statement in your letter," he wrote back to Wilkowski "and I am pleased to learn that you have offered your assistance to my campaign, should I be a candidate for attorney general."

Then he quoted from Henry David

Thoreau and added: "It is obvious that there is a beat of a different drummer in the Ways and Means Committee. The music I hear in my district tells me that my constituents are not interested in another income tax."

The bill is currently in a Ways and Means subcommittee, chaired by Wilkowski.

"PUT SOME CLASS INTO YOUR NIGHT LIFE"

THE FAMILY LAWYER

After driving past a red traffic signal, Marvin was sirened to the curb by a motorcycle officer. Acting on a hunch, the officer took a look in the trunk. Sure enough, he discovered a quantity of illicit drugs.

Was this evidence usable against Marvin in court? No, a judge ruled, because this was an "unreasonable search and seizure" — forbidden by the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution.

"Such search," said the court, "could have had no relation to the traffic violation."

Generally speaking, the fact that a motorist has committed a routine traffic violation does not justify a search of his car. However, there are exceptions. Take this case:

A motorist was halted for drunk driving. The officer, looking for wine or whiskey bottles, checked the glove compartment. There he found a pistol. In these circumstances the pistol was held to be admissible in the courtroom. Searching the car for bottles, said the court, was a logical step in view of the reason for the original arrest.

Furthermore, an officer has the right to follow his own senses in discovering incriminating evidence.

In a third case, after a policeman stopped a speeder, he spied the butt of a revolver protruding from underneath the front seat. This evidence was later held valid when the government prosecuted the motorist for carrying a concealed weapon.

As one judge put it: "The officer was under no duty to close his eyes to the fact that the (gun) was in plain view."

EM3 Scott A. Jones will be returning home March 28 on leave from the United States Navy. Jones is presently stationed at the Naval Reactors Facility in the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory where he is assigned to the S5G nuclear prototype.

SCOTT A. JONES

He qualified on Dec. 2 at the prototype to supervise, operate and do maintenance on the Naval Nuclear Power Plant. He has been receiving additional proficiency training and also supporting maintenance on the reactor plant since his qualification. Following his leave Jones will be stationed at the submarine base in New London, Conn., where he will fly to Scotland to man the U.S.S. Alexander Hamilton, the nuclear powered fleet ballistic missile submarine, on three month intervals.

Airman Steven R. Crist, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Crist of 600 Ridgewood Drive, has been selected for technical training at Sheppard AFB, Tex., in the Air Force aircraft maintenance field.

STEVEN R. CRIST

Airman Crist, a 1973 graduate of Circleville High School, attended Ohio State University, Columbus.

Airman Kitty J. Bialy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bialy of 19824 Bolender Pontius Road, has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

KITTY J. BIALY

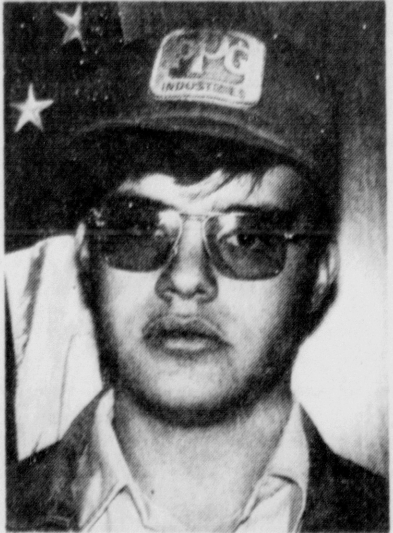

During the six weeks training at Lackland AFB, Tex., the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Bialy will now receive specialized training in the aircraft equipment maintenance field.

The airman is a 1976 graduate of Logan Elm High School.

Seaman Recruit Duane Leroy Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dale Hart, Sunset Drive, has enlisted in the United States Navy's delayed enlistment program. Hart, a senior at Circleville High School, will be leaving

Sept. 1 for his basic training at Great Lakes, Ill.

DUANE LEROY HART

He enlisted into the school guarantee program where he will undergo extensive training in the avionics field. During this training he will study how to operate and maintain sophisticated electronics equipment, wiring and schematic diagrams, theory, performance and installation of computerized target acquisition tracking and missile guidance systems, theory of alternating and direct current, basic electricity and electronics. He will then go into one of four guaranteed rating structures, all closely related but tasked with different responsibilities—aviation fire control technician, aviation antisubmarine warfare, aviation electronics technician and tradesman.

Hart was enlisted into the Navy by Machinist Mate Billy Sutton who works out of the Navy Recruiting station, in Chillicothe. PO Sutton also maintains a recruiting office at 210 South Court Street.

The local Marine Corps Representative, SSGT. Angelo E. Costanzo, will be at the Circleville Post Office from the hours of 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. the first week of every month; phone 474-1500. The Marine Corps Recruiter can be contacted for appointment any other time at 64 North Paint St., Chillicothe, Ohio; phone 772-1474.

Dennis L. Kiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kiser of Route 1, Stoutsville, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program today, according to SSgt. Crum, Air Force recruiter, located in Lancaster, Ohio.

Kiser, a 1977 graduate of Amanda Clearcreek High School, is scheduled for enlistment in the Regular Air Force on Aug. 29, 1977. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six-week basic training course, he is scheduled to receive technical training in the Helicopter Mechanic.

Kiser will be earning credits toward a Career Education Certificate through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and other Air Force technical training schools.

Heacock Awarded Silver Beaver

The Central Ohio Council, Boy Scouts of America, presented Dr. James Heacock, 210 Linden Lane, Circleville, with the Silver Beaver Award, the council's highest award, at the annual council dinner at the Lausche Building on the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Dr. Heacock was one of 12 recipients of the award. He has been an assistant scoutmaster and is currently scoutmaster of Troop 52 and has worked with the troop during the past 10 years.

He is also a merit badge counselor and a District Award of Merit recipient. Under his guidance, 12 scouts achieved the rank of Eagle Scout.

Heacock is also a chemist with the E.I. DuPont De Nemours and Co. and a member of the American Chemical Society.

He is a member of the Community United Methodist Church's administrative board and a Sunday School teacher.

Commission Sees Viet Detente Ahead

CLARK AIR BASE, The Philippines (AP) — President Carter's special commission to Indochina is on its way home with assurances from Vietnam and slight hopes from Laos that procedures can be set up to clarify the status of some of the Americans missing in the Vietnam War.

Hanoi handed over what it said were the remains of 12 U.S. pilots shot down in Vietnam. They were flown to Honolulu, and military medical experts went to work on them to confirm the identities of the men by checking the remains with their military health records.

The remains will be sent to the Army Mortuary in Oakland, Calif., and then on to funeral directors chosen by the families of the men, officials said.

The Vietnamese also agreed to establish an office to gather information about other missing Americans.

Leonard Woodcock, the commission leader, said the trip to Hanoi "laid the basis, at the will of the President, for moving toward the normalization" of relations between the United States and Vietnam.

Woodcock, who is president of the United Auto Workers, said his group

Yeatts, Wilson Attend DeMolay Confab

Jerry L. Yeatts son of Mrs. Hazel M. Yeatts of 507 N. Pickaway St., and David B. Wilson son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of 1080 Georgia Road, joined over 100 other young men in a special "moc legislature" of the Order of DeMolay last Saturday (March 19, 1977).

The young men were Delegates to the Ohio DeMolay Legislature held in the chambers of the State House of Representatives in Columbus. The day long session featured discussion by the delegates representing the 160 DeMolay chapters in Ohio on subjects pertaining to DeMolay and the recent energy crisis. Vernal Riffe Jr. (D-New Boston) the Speaker of the House, welcomed the Delegates to the house chambers.

The Order of DeMolay is a Masonic Sponsored young mens' organization founded in 1919 in Kansas City Missouri. It has a world wide membership of over 3 million and is open to young men 13-21 years of age who have a good moral character and a belief in God.

agreed to bring home the Vietnamese message that U.S. aid in the reconstruction of Vietnam is a matter of humanitarian principle.

"From the beginning I emphasized that our two countries were meeting as equals," Woodcock said. "... I told them that if they closed the door on us, then it might take 10 or 12 years before we were back."

Woodcock said Deputy Foreign Minister Phan Hien declared: "You will not be disappointed with us."

Woodcock said the visit to Vientiane produced hope that the U.S. Embassy and the Laotian government could set up procedures to seek information about Americans shot down in Laos, but "we have no specific understanding on this matter." A Laotian government newspaper said any accounting for missing Americans would be linked to requests for U.S. aid.

The Pentagon lists 795 Americans missing in action in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos and says the remains of more than 1,700 others killed in action have not been recovered. The Cambodian government refused to talk with the commission.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

The 125 year old Ohio constitution provision which now limits state debt to a maximum of $750,000 will be repealed and replaced by a "flexible debt limit" if a resolution passed Tuesday by the Ohio Senate ultimately becomes law.

Senate Joint Resolution (SJR) 3 would allow the state, by a 2-3 vote of the General Assembly, to issue general obligation bonds for capital improvements and highways without a vote of the people or a constitutional amendment. Bonds that would be issued in any one fiscal year would be limited to 8 per cent of the average state revenue for the two preceding years. Debt service on these bonds may not exceed 6 per cent of the state's average revenues for the two years prior to issuance of the bonds.

In addition to capital improvements and highways, SJR3 would also allow the state to incur debt in any fiscal year to meet appropriations made by the legislature for that fiscal year. This provision is designed to ease the effects of the "cash flow" problems which have affected state financing from time to time. Any such debt must be repaid before the end of the fiscal year.

If SJR 3 becomes law, estimates indicate that the state could borrow up to $321 million in 1978, $328 million in 1979 and $352 million in 1980 without a vote of the people.

After a careful and detailed study of the resolution, Senator Collins decided to vote against it on the floor. He noted that its supporters had failed to show a single example of voter rejection of a needed state bond issue. Collins said, "I strongly believe that the voters should retain final approval over all the state bond issues. The people of Ohio have never failed to support justified state spending." He added, "If state officials can't convince the voters that a bond issue is necessary, then it doesn't deserve to pass."

In other Senate action, a Joint Resolution (SJR 11) modifying the organization and procedure of county charter commissions was passed. SJR 11 allows some public office holders to serve on county charter commissions, establishes procedures for repeal of a county charter, allows a charter to be submitted by a petition of the people and requires a charter amendment to relate to only one subject. It also clarifies certain aspects of county charters and removes some ambiguities that exist under present law.

The Senate Finance Committee passed Amended House Bill 152. This bill is of particular importance to college students and their families. It allows the Ohio Student Loan Commission to increase its loan guarantee from 90 per cent to 100 per cent on any unpaid principal and interest. This change meets federal standards and gains the state 100 per cent federal re-insurance on each loan. It is expected that this increase in loan guarantee will attract more money from Ohio banks for use by Ohio students at no cost to Ohio taxpayers (because of the 100 per cent federal re-insurance provision). H.B. 152 allows out-of-state students who attend Ohio schools to qualify for a loan and also requires any Ohio bank which receives state deposits to participate in the Student Loan Program. This bill will soon come to the Senate Floor for final action.

Contact In Niehous Case Made?

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The first communication in eight months with the presumed kidnappers of U.S. businessman William F. Niehous was reported Sunday by Caracas newspapers.

The papers reported that they have received a new message from persons claiming to be the kidnappers of Niehous, 46 of Toledo, Ohio, who was taken captive more than a year ago.

The mimeographed message, accompanied by a photocopy of the first page of Niehous' passport, said the businessman continues to be submitted to "popular trial," but gave no further information about him.

The message also attacked the Venezuelan government and contained a threat to carry out new terrorist acts in the country. It was signed by the "Revolutionary Commando Group, Operation Argimiro Gabaldon," the same name used in earlier messages sent by persons claiming to be the kidnappers.

Niehous, local manager of the Toledo-based Owens-Illinois glass manufacturing group, was seized from his suburban Caracas home on Feb. 27, 1976, by seven armed men, dressed in both civilian and military clothing.

Communiques issued after his abduction accused both Niehous and Owens-Illinois of meddling in Venezuelan internal affairs and demanded payment of some $3.4 million in addition to other demands.

The Venezuelan government, which has forbidden any negotiation with the kidnappers, has said that all the abductors have been either arrested or identified, but no trace of Niehous has been found.

Logan Elm Art Students Earn Awards

Three Logan Elm High School art students were selected to receive awards of merit in Teacher's Choice! '77, an art contest sponsored by the Ivy School of Professional Art, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Logan Elm students Susan Barnett and Tim Hartranft each received an award and David Calton received two for his art works.

The program recognizes the indispensable role of the art teacher in educating and inspiring young art students to higher achievement and involvement in the visual arts.

Bill Chandler is the students' art teacher.

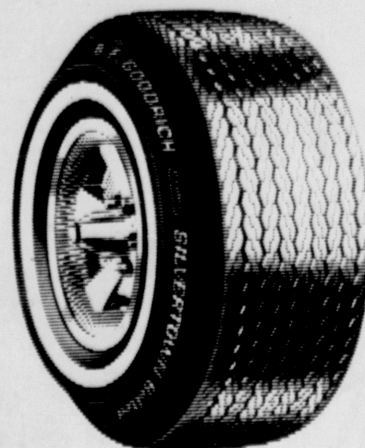

Strikers Charged In Plant Incident

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Three more strikers have been charged with disorderly conduct at the strikebound Pease Co. plants in Hamilton, Ohio and Fairfield, Ohio, police said Sunday.

The firm, which produces prefabricated housing and related products, was struck Feb. 28 by Local 1787, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners AFL-CIO.

The firm has filed contempt charges against the union for alleged violations of a court order limiting picketing activities. The charges will be heard in Butler County Common Pleas Court on Thursday.

TV Drops District Thriller To River Valley, 42-39

Teays Valley lost its magic in the last two minutes of Saturday's Hilliard District final and were knocked from the Class AA tournament by River Valley 42-39.

The Vikes, who trailed only once in the first three periods, were the victims of four Donna VonKaelen layups and Carolyn Harbolt's six points in the final quarter.

Harbolt, RV's high-scoring 5-11 center, and VonKaelen, the Vikings' 5-1 guard, were able to establish River Valley's vaunted fast break in the final quarter, an offensive key for the Vikings that Teays Valley had eliminated throughout the game.

The Vikings from Teays Valley held a slim 31-28 lead at the beginning of the period when Von Kaelen scored a layup off the opening tip and gave RV the lead 32-31 with a fast-break layup at 4:23. Harbolt's rebound goal with 4:05 upped the score to 34-31.

But Deb Baxter shaved the lead to a point, 34-33, with 3:37 left and P.J. Stiles gave the Vikes a 35-34 edge at 2:46 when she popped in a rebound shot.

Harbolt's rebound jumper at 2:21 switched the one-point margin to RV's side before Baxter canned two free throws at 2:11 to give the Vikes a 37-36 edge, their last lead of the game.

VonKaelen scored two quick layups off long passes from Harbolt at 1:50 and 1:27 to give RV a 40-37 edge. Florie Mesner hit from under the basket with 38 seconds left to make the score 40-39, but Harbolt banged in two free throws on the final three seconds to seal the win for River Valley.

The Vikings appeared to have the game wrapped up with the opening tip, when Rita Slone crashed in for a layup.

Senior captain Perri Martin followed with a free throw, a shot from the key, and two more free tosses to build a 7-0 TV lead in the opening two minutes against a frustrated RV, which blew numerous fast-break opportunities.

VonKaelen scored RV's first basket at 5:49, but Teays Valley continued to score and had an 11-3 edge midway through the period. But River Valley came back strong to cut the edge to 11-9 at the quarter break.

After surrendering the lead briefly in the second quarter, the Vikings worked hard against RV's 2-3 zone to forge to a 26-21 halftime lead. TV made seven of their 13 free throws in the period.

But RV turned the tables in the second half, using a 1-3-1 zone defense to limit Teays Valley to only five points in the third period and eight in the final.

By winning the game, River Valley advances to the regional tournament at Otterbein's Rike Arena where they will meet defending Class AA champion Hartley Thursday night. Hartley nipped Wehrle 50-47 to gain the spot.

VonKaelen paced the RV offense with 12 points in the game, Carol Wagner had 10, Joyce Clum scored seven, and Harbolt hit for six.

Deb Baxter was the leading scorer for Teays Valley with 16 points. Perri Martin scored eight, Florie Mesner scored five, Rita Slone and P.J. Stiles had four each, and Suzy Jones hit for two.

Teays Valley had a poor shooting night, hitting 13 of 54 shots from the floor for 24 per cent. The Vikes were 13 of 20 at the foul line for 65 per cent, and were charged with 18 turnovers.

River Valley was 19 of 56 from the floor for 34 per cent, made four of six free throws for 67 per cent, and were charged with 16 turnovers.

Teays Valley controlled the boards with a 54-34 edge in rebounding. Martin claimed 14 rebounds for TV, Jones and Mesner had nine each, Stiles had eight, and Baxter and Slone had seven each.

Harbolt was the top rebounder for River Valley with eight.

Baxter had four steals for Teays Valley, while Slone, Mesner, and Stiles had three and Martin had two.

And Baxter led the team in assists with six, while Slone had four and Martin had two.

Coach Angie Rinehart's Vikings closed the year with a 12-2 record including their third straight Metro League title and second straight sectional crown. In post season play, the Vikes have played in District games in the first two years of the State tournament for girls.

The game was the last for TV's standout senior center Perri Martin and scrappy senior forward Suzy Jones.

Petty Wins

Atlanta 500

HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) — There is a sign on the wall in Richard Petty's garage which says, "There are good years, and there are bad years ... and then there was last year."

Petty had fewer victories last year in Grand National stock car racing than at any time in his career since 1961.

But now there is this year. Things have turned around completely for the six-time national champion.

"We've won two out of five so far this season, and I suppose with a little better luck, we could have had a chance to make it five out of five," Petty said after winning Sunday's Atlanta 500.

Petty's troubles — in the form of Cale Yarborough — were far behind him at the finish. Yarborough drove almost the last half of the race without brakes — a hair-raising experience.

Petty's brother Maurice told Yarborough, "We were lucky you had trouble."

Yarborough replied, "You're lucky any time you run all day with no trouble."

Flint Shuts Out Port Huron, 11-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Flint Generals chalked up what officials called their most one-sided game in team history by blanking Port Huron 11-0 in International Hockey League action Sunday night.

Ted Bulley scored three goals and Mike Powers had a pair for the Generals in the game at Flint. The winners, now in third place in the IHL North Division, hammered in five goals in each of the first two periods, and iced it with a single third period tally.

Goaltender Rick St. Croix turned away 41 shots to get the shutout, which boosted the Generals' record to 35-30-9 for the season. Port Huron dropped to 27-40-7 for fifth place in the division.

In other IHL games Sunday, Toledo clinched the South Division title by defeating Muskegon 7-0; Columbus nipped Dayton 4-2; and Fort Wayne defeated North Division leader Saginaw 7-3.

Barberton Eyes Title Repeat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The pressure of 50 straight victories coupled with defending a championship?

"Naw," said Barberton Coach Jack Greynolds. "Not on these kids. There isn't a bit of pressure on them. They react to each game like it's their first one."

"The last 50 victories aren't going to help us any here."

Ohio boys prep basketball's most celebrated heart victim was assessing his team's shot at winning a second successive Class AAA state title, the first test being a semifinal showdown with Elyria.

Greynolds, decked by a heart attack before Barberton's first game, has recovered to guide the Magics in their last 11 contests. "I've calmed down a little—if we get a lead," he said of his fitness. "But we've had no pressure games. The closest was 11 points against Akron Firestone. It could easily have been 25."

Top-ranked Barberton, which faces No. 3 Elyria, also 24-0, at 6 p.m. Thursday, now has the third longest winning streak in Ohio boys basketball history. Middletown's teams of 1956-1958 posted 76 straight. Bellpoint in 1924-25 took 54 in a row.

"The last 50 victories aren't going to help us here," said Greynolds, aware there are three 24-0 teams in the Class AAA semifinals.

Second-ranked Columbus Linden-McKinley, 24-0, faces 203 Cincinnati LaSalle in the other big school semifinal at 9:30 p.m. Thursday in St. John Arena.

In the Class AA semifinals, No. 5 Cleveland Latin, 22-2, plays unranked Ottawa-Glandorf, 22-2, at 6 p.m. Friday, followed by No. 4 Columbus Mifflin, 21-3, vs. unranked Dayton

BATTLE FOR THE BALL — Flore Mesner, P.J. Stiles, and Perri Martin battle River Valley players for the ball during action in Saturday's game. Stiles came up with the loose ball and put it back in the basket for two of her four points.

Sanders, Bonnies Top Houston, 94-91

Jefferson, 17-7, at 9:30 p.m.

In Class A, Continental, 20-6, of Putnam County tangles with Fort Loramie, 18-8, of Shelby County at 11 a.m. Friday. Richmond Dale Southeastern, 23-1, of Ross County plays Mansfield St. Peter's, 21-4, at 2:30 p.m.

The only former champions in the 55th state tournament are Barberton, LindenMcKinley (1967-75) and St. Peter's (1968).

The championships Saturday call for Class AAA at 11:30 a.m., Class A at 3 p.m. and Class AA at 7:30 p.m.

Barberton, Class AA Dayton Roth

and Class A Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South collected the 1976 crowns.

Jene Davis, LindenMcKinley's 30-year-old coach, is batting 1,000 at bringing teams to the final four. He's had the Columbus City League champions in the state tournament all three of his coaching campaigns, starting with the 1975 championship.

"This team's a little bit bigger and has much more talent than last year," said Davis, his team propelled by two-time AllOhioan Todd Penn, a 5-foot-9 guard. Penn has started in all three state tournaments.

NEW YORK (AP) — Ever hear of a basketball player who recruits himself? Greg Sanders did.

"I sent St. Bonaventure a brochure about my high school career," says Sanders, "just to make sure they knew I was alive."

St. Bonaventure got the message — and then got Sanders. It turned out to be a happy correspondence.

Sanders became one of the school's best forwards and led the Bonnies to a dramatic 94-91 victory Sunday over Houston in the final of the 40th National Invitation Tournament.

"This is just a dream come true," said Sanders in the euphoria of the winners' lockerroom at Madison Square Garden. "This is just wonderful."

Sanders says that he had 150 offers for his services, but ultimately settled on St. Bonaventure "because I wanted to be a big fish in a small pond."

He has developed into the team's leading scorer — and Sunday was certainly the big shot on the court. Sanders scored 40 points, including the go-ahead shot with 40 seconds left.

When Sanders first let the ball fly, St. Bonaventure Coach Jim Satalin was not sure it was a high-percentage shot.

"I looked at it and it was one of those 'No, no, no — oh, yes!' shots," said Satalin. "Had it not gone in, that would have been a bad shot. But since he scored, we'll say it was a good one."

The way Sanders was shooting, every shot was a good one. The cool, efficient junior hit 14 of 23 field goal attempts, many of them difficult, twisting shots that had the Bonnie-oriented crowd of 12,451 roaring with pleasure.

City Bowling Tourney Begins At Circle D, Prairie Lanes

The Circleville Bowling Association launched the annual city wide bowling tournament on Saturday evening at Circle D and Prairie Lanes.

Emmitt Dade, President of the C.B.A., had the honor of throwing the first ball down lane number four at Circle D to start the action. Gary Belles of Boy Scout Troop 170, also participated in the opening ceremonies.

The team events will be staged at Circle D with the singles and doubles taking place at Prairie Lanes.

Leading scorers for the men after Sunday's events were, in the singles, Ron Tack, 713; Jim Patrick, 701; and Paul White, 700. In doubles, it was Walter Malone and David Massie, 1392; Larry Oiler and Dan Hindy, 1338; and Ron Tack and Victor Brannon, 1280.

In the team event, it was P.P.G. leading with a 3227; then came G.E.

Lamplighters with 3206; and Burton's Jewelry with 3140.

The bowling tourney continues on Saturday and Sunday for the next two weekends at both bowling lanes.

The annual awards banquet is scheduled for April 12 at Prairie Lanes, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Three More In Memorial Field

If youth must be served as the slogan goes, the trend on the PGA Tour scene of young, unheralded players suddenly becoming winners almost from week to week, bears direct ramifications on the Memorial Tournament to be held May 19-22 at Muirfield Village Golf Club, Dublin, Ohio.

In the last four weeks, three winners not previously qualified have received invitations and all have accepted. They are: Andy Bean, Doral-Eastern Open; Gary Koch, Florida Citrus Open; and, Tom Purtzer, Los Angeles Open.

Breaking the pattern of late was Jack Nicklaus who interrupted the surge of virtual unknowns with a five-stroke victory at the Gleason Inverrary Classic to give the "name" players a return to the winner's circle. As a result of the three youngsters dominating the top-check department of winnings, the list of players eligible to participate in the Memorial Tournament has now increased to 89.

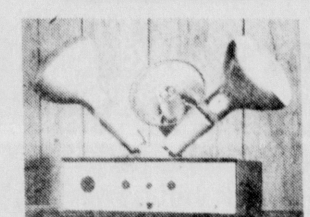

Already in the field is another young sensation, Bruce Lietzke, top money winner of 1977 with victories at Tucson and Hawaiian Opens. Other 1977 titleholders in tow are United States and Canadian Open Champion Jerry Pate who jumped off to an auspicious start by capturing the first event of the year — the Phoenix Open, and Rik Massengale, who took the Hope Desert Classic by a whopping six strokes.

Three former United States Open champions were among the first to file their entries: Hale Irwin, who lost to Roger Maltbie via a four-hole playoff at last year's inaugural Memorial Tournament; Gary Player; and, Lee Trevino, who again confirmed his entry, assuring the Memorial Tournament that his plans are definitely set for May 19-22.

"Combine these proven champions of many years with the 1977 surge of young winners and you have a very impressive field already — and with two months to go," stated Tournament Director Herb McDonald. "It is our hope to provide the best 105 players possible under this selection invitational format, and judging by the response to our invitations, we are achieving that objective," he added.

Meanwhile, preparations are rolling smoothly in the organizational phases of the Memorial Tournament, according to Co-Chairmen Pandel Savic and Bob Hoag. Many favorable comments were made about the volunteers and community spirit which contributed immensely to the success of last year's event, auguring well for 1977.

Class AAA Basketball Stars Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "He's a franchise," said one college recruiter after watching Herb Williams, The Associated Press' Ohio Class AAA Player of the Year in high school basketball.

"He's going to take some college a long way," said Marietta Coach Ed Paxton after his team was blistered by the 6-foot-11 Williams in a regional tournament game last week.

The big senior, who carries 25-point and 15-rebound averages, is the object of all major college coaches' eyes. He's being courted by such powers as UCLA, Maryland, Michigan, Alabama and Florida State.

He's the No. 1 priority in Eldon Miller's bid to turn Ohio State's sagging fortunes around.

Jack Greynolds, Barberton's gritty coach, won the other major award in Ohio basketball when he was named the AP's Ohio Class AAA Coach of the Year.

Greynolds overcame a heart attack before the season began to take over the Magics' reins and has them in the state tournament for the second successive year.

Greynolds has guided Barberton to 50 straight victories heading into Thursday night's state semifinals at Ohio State.

Williams heads an eight-player first team all-state unit that includes a fellow Columbus standout, 5-9 Todd Penn of Linden-McKinley. The clever senior guard is the lone repeater from last year's No. 1 squad after averaging more than 20 points this winter.

Joining them on the first team were 6-2 Carter Scott, the scoring leader of defending state champion Barberton; 6-9 Richard Montague of Elyria, 6-6 Jim Rhoden of Lebanon, 6-0 Jay Lehman of Defiance, 6-4 Vincent Brookins of Cleveland Collinwood and 6-8 James Smith of Cleveland East Tech.

Second team members were Barberton's Bodnar twins, Marty and Mark; Dwight Anderson of Dayton Roth, Gary Massa of Cincinnati St. Xavier, Mike McBroom of Logan, Todd Dietrich of Cincinnati Oak Hills, Newark's Chris Ash and John Floers of Sylvania Southview.

Third team selections were Emzer Shurelds of Lima Senior, Dave Hanlon of East Liverpool, Dave Stough of Grove City, Art Schlitcher of Miami Trace, Marty Wise of Cleveland St. Ignatius, Marty Cristo of Warren Western Reserve, Tim Zoller of Marietta, Jeff Lisath of Portsmouth and Vincent Phelps of Springfield South.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The

Porsches Again Sebring Victors

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Porsches again have dominated the 12-hour Sebring sports car race, sweeping the top 10 spots. But the manufacturer's fastest model, the turbocharged 934, will have to wait another year for a victory.

The pole-setting 934 owned by Jim Busby had to settle for third place Saturday after losing its left front wheel.

Various difficulties dropped the second fastest qualifier, a 934 driven by Danny Ongais, Ted Field and Hurley Haywood, to fourth. Fifth was a 934 driven by Gary Belcher and John Gunn, which had qualified fourth.

"We won by attrition," said Brad Frisselle, who joined George Dyer in a Porsche Carrera in taking top honors. "Our game plan was to just run steady, and it worked."

Ever since he managed the Texas Rangers, Yankee manager Billy Martin has lived in Arlington, Tex.

Mark Hayes Wins TPC Golf Tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The youth movement continues.

His victory in the Tournament Players Championship came as a mild surprise to Mark Hayes. But the quiet, 27-year-old used the wind as his ally and extended for still another week the youthful revolution that has shaken the pro golf tour.

With the season 11 weeks old, only Jack Nicklaus has been able to win against the horde of youngsters who, week after week, have bettered the best efforts of golf's established stars.

This time the supporting cast included some of the game's greatest names — Nicklaus, Tom Watson, Hale Irwin and Ray Floyd. All fired and fell back in the howling winds that turned the alligator-infested Sawgrass course into an unbeatable monster.

No one in the field of the world's finest players was able to break par for four rounds over the reclaimed swamp and marshland that the touring pros were playing for the first time.

"I was just concentrating on making pars," Hayes said after his even-par 72 had given him a two-stroke victory at 289, one over par and the highest winning score in any tour event since Nicklaus won the 1972 U.S. Open at 290.

Hayes' credentials — two victories and more than $150,000 in earnings last year — are such that his triumph couldn't be classified as an upset. But even he didn't expect it.

"I really wasn't in it over the front nine," said the Oklahoma State product, who joined the tour in the fall of 1973. "But then all the leaders started to make bogey and kind of came back to me."

Mike McCullough, a non-winner who had led or shared the lead through the first three rounds, claimed second with a birdie on the last hole. He had a 75, a 291 total and the biggest check of his five-year career, $34,200. Hayes won $60,000 from the total purse of $300,000.

Irwin, with a closing 74, and Australian Bruce Devlin, 72, tied for third at 292. At 293 were defending champion Nicklaus, 74; veteran internationalist Graham Marsh, 71, and Tom Watson, 77. Floyd, in the title chase most of the way, went to a 78-296.

ODNR Says Not To Litter

With the advent of warm weather many homeowners will soon be elbow deep in the usual spring cleanup around the house. The attic, the basement, and the garage are the prime targets because they seem to show the most accumulation of disposable materials over the course of the winter. A little later on will come the usual yard debris; lawn rakings, limbs from tree prunings and shrubbery trimmings.

Most urban areas have regularly scheduled trash pickups from the curb. In rural and other areas where there is no trash pickup, commercial haulers are available and for a few dollars will pick up and haul the trash to a sanitary landfill. For those people who have suitable transportation to haul their own trash, the landfills are also available to them.

Do not be one of those few individuals who insist upon throwing his litter along our streams, or into our streams and even our State Wildlife Areas. Most courts abhor this unsightly practice as evidenced by two recent decisions in the courts of central Ohio.

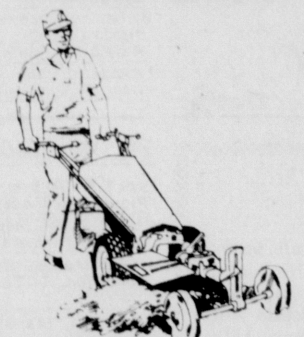

Game Protectors Emory Jividen and Warren Gross arrested Gary L. Kerns, 448 Lincoln Avenue, Marion, for littering a tributary to the Little Scioto River after Kerns had taken rubbish from the Lincoln Avenue address, drove out into the country and dumped it in and along the edge of the water. Kerns entered a plea of guilty before Marion Municipal Court Judge Charlton Myers, who levied a $50.00 fine plus $10.50 court costs.

In Fairfield County, Enforcement Agent Richard Pierce investigated a complaint of litter in a tributary of Clear Creek near Revenge. In checking the site in question, Pierce found what looked like two truckloads of building materials dumped along the edge of the water. The investigation led to the arrest of Robert N. Bray, 145 W. Fifth Avenue, Lancaster. The building material was from Bray's home which he was remodeling. Lancaster Municipal Court Judge Joseph Ralston found Bray guilty of stream litter and fined him $45.00 and $13.00 court costs.

Those people who persist in defiling

Ohio's waters and stream banks with their litter, can expect to get arrested and appear in court. Some judges have indicated that levying substantially heavier fines in the future and ordering litterers to spend a few days cleaning up trash along a section of stream may be the answer for those errant citizens who refuse to have their trash disposed of properly.

Ron Lyle Beats Britain's Joe Bugner

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Boxing's heavyweight division took another turn Sunday when power-puncher Ron Lyle of Denver hammered out a 12-round split decision over British heavyweight champion Joe Bugner.

Bugner was the fourth-ranked contender going into the fight, coming off a one-round knockout of Richard Dunn last October, while Lyle was ranked seventh, losing a decision to Jimmy Young late last year.

In Memoriam

In beloved memory of our son, Dennis E. Woods who passed away March 2, 1975.

We did not know the pain you had or hear your final sigh. Only know you went away without a last goodbye.

We found the strength to face it and courage to bear the blow.

But what it meant to lose you, no one will ever know.

Sadly missed by
The Woods Family

Racers Routed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Houston Aeros are having a private battle. And their opposition is receiving the wounds.

The Aeros, on their way toward winning the World Hockey Association's Western Division title, have five players contending for the club's scoring championship.

"We've got good balance," Aeros Coach Bill Dineen said Sunday after his team erupted for six goals in the final period and routed the Indianapolis Racers 8-3.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

FOR TUESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Excellent influences. You can give an exhilarating lift to a new project or brighten routine to the point where it actually becomes stimulating.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Do not dash headlong into day's activities no matter how much is expected of you or how much you wish to accomplish. There are "cloudy" areas to study well.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your intuition and foresight at a peak. Good ideas will come seemingly "from thin air." Act on them immediately.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A new work assignment may seem difficult to carry out, but a comprehensive discussion with close associates will produce useful ideas, guidance.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You usually like to solve your own problems, but don't arbitrarily reject another's idea. It may be more practical than your own.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some intrigue possible in occupational circles. YOU remain discreet and keep involvement to a minimum.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If you have been planning any changes in your home or property, now is a good time to start making them. Family will not only approve — but will help.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Friends will be especially helpful now — especially in being able to supply some much-needed data. They will also be able to give you certain objective insights which will prove invaluable in the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A good day for finalizing agreements. Some unusual background activity will provide the spark that hurries matters through more quickly than expected.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take nothing for granted now and avoid jumping to conclusions. What seems a certainty could be otherwise. One more admonition: Don't try to force issues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Routine and detail work will probably bore you now, so get busy on a creative project you've had in mind for some time. Influences stimulate original ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A better day for completing old projects than for beginning new ones. In leisure time, devote yourself to a creative hobby.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a dynamic personality, tremendous ambition and an inner drive which propels you toward your goals with the blinding intensity of a comet. Few failures have been born on this date, though some of you may not fully realize your potentials. It is important that you find your niche early in life because you are so versatile that you may change roads frequently, thus scattering valuable energies before getting on the right track. Once there, however, your talents and determination can lead you to seemingly unattainable plateaus of success. Traits to curb: overaggressiveness and excessive volubility. Birthdate of: Anthony Van Dyck, Flem. painter.

Vancouver, British Columbia, is Canada's major Pacific Coast port.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Docu-drama is the name given TV movies that claim to recreate real events. Tonight, a variation of docu-drama is afoot. It's set in Louisiana, and I call it gumbo-drama.

NBC calls it "The Life and Assassination of the Kingfish." It's about Huey Long, the controversial Louisiana populist, governor, senator and, some say, dictator who was fatally shot in 1935 in Baton Rouge.

Starring Ed Asner as Long, filmed in Baton Rouge with at least 14 Louisiana-based supporting players, this two-hour film by Robert Collins is one of the hardest-to-follow historical tableaux I've ever seen.

Woe betide you if you aren't a serious student of Louisiana politics, of Long, his political machine and his machinations.

The show opens with a chap on a front porch at night, being told Long has been shot at the State Capitol and the alleged assailant — Carl A. Weiss, 29, a doctor — killed by Long's gun-toting bodyguards.

The chap, an apparent Long crony, goes to the hospital where the wounded senator, famed for his "Share Our Wealth" plan to soak the rich, is being tended. Long's wife, Rose (Diane Kagan), then arrives.

Which begins a flurry of from-the-hospital flashbacks tracing Long's life, from the day he met his young future bride and told her he'd be president some day to the shot that ended his life at age 42.

(Long was 19 when he married Rose. Observers will note that Asner appears a mite older in the scene of budding romance.)

We get a look at his lean civilian days as a traveling salesman, touting what sounds like "cutlin." Subsequent research indicated the goods were Cottole, a cooking oil.

Then it's back to the hospital, then to his early political days, his plans to redistribute the nation's wealth, and his political start in 1918, when he was elected a state railroad commissioner.

All this is covered in husband-to-wife dialogue, likewise his first race for governor, followed by a quick flashback to the hospital to introduce his brother, Earl (Fred Cook), who banters with reporters.

They ask Earl about his feud with his brother. But not until later do we get an inkling of part of the dispute: Huey, heading for the U.S. Senate, declined to back Earl for Lieutenant Governor.

And so it goes, hospital hubbub, political scandal, cries of "Every man a king!" and noisy peregrinations from state house to U.S. Senate and possible third-party battle against President Roosevelt.

Ill-defined characters float in and out, as do poorly-constructed scenes.

Asner, a good actor, seems miscast. But then he didn't have much of a script from which to work. It makes Long's incredible life and times seem naught but bayou hieroglyphics on a 21-inch screen.

The average annual price of an ounce of silver in Boston in the early 1700s ranged from seven paper shillings in 1700-1704 to 60 in 1749, reports the U.S. Census Bureau.

Haiti, the site of Columbus' first settlement in 1492, was under Spanish and French rule before becoming the New World's second republic in 1804, according to National Geographic.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DeMOLAY SWEETHEART — Miss Theresa Cushing, a sophomore at Circleville High School, was chosen as 1977 DeMolay Sweetheart for the Circleville Chapter during last week's observances of International DeMolay Week. Runner-up was Miss Paula Dunham, also a student at CHS. Pictured with Miss Cushing is DeMolay Master Councilor Dan Ervin.

Local DeMolay Week Observances Held

In the opening celebration of International DeMolay Week, Miss Theresa Cushing, a sophomore at Circleville High School, was chosen 1977 DeMolay Sweetheart for the Circleville Chapter. Runner-up was Miss Paula Dunham, also a student at CHS.

Crowning the new sweetheart was the 1976 Sweetheart, Miss Mary Garner. Nosegays of candy striped carnations were presented to each of the contestants, the runner-up, and the new sweetheart by DeMolay Master Councilor, Dan Ervin.

Co-hosting the competition with the Master Councilor was past chapter and past district sweetheart Miss Debbie Harber.

A reception was held in the Masonic Temple dining room following the competition. Refreshments were served by members of the DeMolay Mothers' Club to members of the DeMolay and their guests.

In other observances of DeMolay Week, the members were interviewed over WNRE radio. They were also recognized and supported by various businesses and patrons on a page of the Herald.

The members waited on tables at a dinner served to the Scottish Rite by the Eastern Star.

Friday was Fun Night, as the members and their guests were hosted at a party at the home of Barry Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby

Man Clubbed, Robbed By Thief

A thief, who clubbed a 79-year-old man in the head with a board, made off with an undetermined amount of money from his wallet.

John W. Furniss, Route 1, Orient, suffered a large contusion to the back of his head, according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Danny Dewey, but refused treatment for the injury.

Deputy Dewey, Deputy Bill Huffman, and Detective Donald Thompson searched the area but were unable to find the assailant.

Furniss, who operates a General Store in Matville was knocked semi-conscious during the assault. He apparently spotted a car leaving the area, but could not get a description of the vehicle.

According to Deputy Dewey, Furniss had closed his store and walked to his house, which is located on the Scioto Darby Road in Matville, between 8:30 and 8:45 p.m. Sunday.

As he was attempting to unlock the rear door of the house, the assailant came from behind and struck him in the head with a length of wood.

The money was taken from Furniss' wallet.

Deputy Dewey charged Timothy L. Dingus, 18, Route 1, Williamsport, with petty theft Saturday night.

Young Life Campers Share Experience

Greg Brown and two Circleville students who attended a weekend with Young Life groups, will talk about the activities on Circleville's Christian Television Cable, Channel Five 6:30 p.m. tonight.

The three, plus Nancy Dettra, a Young Life counselor at the camp, will share the purpose, reactions and results of the weekend.

The weekly meeting of Young Life will be held 8 p.m. Monday in the room above the Pickaway County Library. All teens are welcome to join the activities.

'Plentiful' Beef Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has issued yet another alert to bargain-hunting consumers, noting that beef is expected to be in "plentiful" supply next month.

The surplus is a result of the high numbers of cattle put on feed last fall when grain prices moderated.

Although the better prices feeders hoped for then did not materialize, USDA said late last week, the cattle are ready for slaughter and swell the market. Meat production is expected to at least equal the April 1976 record levels.

In another report, USDA said that stocks of frozen beef in cold storage Feb. 28 were 34 per cent greater than a year ago.

Frozen pork stocks were down 5 per cent; canned meats, 20 per cent.

Over-all pork supplies were described as adequate in the food-marketing alert, however.

Also spotted as bargains were potatoes, with the bins bulging because of a March 1 record stock of 109.5 million hundredweight, and pears, with 3 million boxes ready to move to market.

Also on the "plentiful" list, which is aimed at volume buyers of farm goods and reporters, were chickens, milk and dairy products, rice, peanuts, walnuts, almonds, dry beans and canned sweet corn and green peas.

Butter stocks increased 50 per cent during February and are now six times greater than a year ago.

Service Training Offered Through Civil Air Patrol

On Feb. 26, 27 local boys spent a weekend at Rickenbacker Air Force Base as a part of their training for Civil Air Patrol (CAP). This organization is open to the entire family, with emphasis on Cadets; boys and girls between the ages of 13 to 17.

As an auxiliary of the United States Air Force, CAP members learn disaster procedures. They are trained to work with React and Rescue and the Red Cross, also.

The weekend trip for the youngsters was a training session. They learned the proper way to march and salute as well as service courtesies. During the instruction weekend, the youngsters are required to wear Air Force uniforms, which are furnished for the cadets.

Cadets and senior members, those members over 17-years-old, meet weekly at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Pickaway County Airport. At the present time, the organization is looking for people interested in joining. There is a yearly membership fee.

Commanding officer for the Pickaway County CAP is Lt. Dathan Mullins.

Those boys attending the weekend training at Rickenbacker in February were Rick Barker, Jim Barker, Steven Baird, Mark Wallick, George Mounts, Gary Allison, Dale Curry, Danny Mayhew, Paul Gloyd, Rick Bonifant and Dathan G. Mullins.

Anyone interested in joining the CAP should contact Lt. Mullins or attend one of the Thursday evening meetings.

District Winner Named In DECA

Another Circleville High School DECA winner during district competition March 10 was Tim Dietrich. He placed second in mathematics. His name was inadvertently omitted under the picture on the Red and Black page Friday.

Firm To Fight Utility Bill Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbia Gas of Ohio is expected this week to add its voice to complaints that a bill to regulate when utilities can shut off service will cost paying customers more money.

Senate hearings continue this week on the bill, which is aimed at making it more difficult for utilities to terminate service for nonpayment.

So far utility representatives have said that the bill, sponsored by Sen. Timothy McCormack, D-31 Euclid, would push up the amounts they write off each year in uncollectable accounts.

An Ohio Edison spokesman told the committee last Thursday that the bill also would put the cash flow of utilities at the mercy of county welfare departments.

McCormack's bill would force all public utilities to follow a strict procedure in making sure delinquent accounts meet three criteria before service is terminated.

First of all, the bill orders that accounts must be at least 30 days past due before shutoff procedures begin. Next the utility would be forced to call at the home of the past due account to try to collect or make payment arrangements.

And finally the county welfare department would be brought in to report to the utility and the Public Utilities Commission about the impact of the shutoff should it be ordered.

The current law differs from McCormack's bill in two areas. Utilities now are not directed to make the in-person visit to the delinquent account. Also the welfare departments do not enter the picture until after service is terminated.

And it is on the later change that a McCormack aide said amendments on the bill might be expected. Some members of the Senate Energy and Public Utilities Commission have indicated the role of the welfare departments in the McCormack bill is too cumbersome.

A representative of East Ohio Gas, serving northeast Ohio, claimed the bill might increase his firm's bad accounts writeoff from $3.2 million to $30 million a year.

That spokesman said his prediction is based upon experience this winter after PUCO issued an order that stopped gas utilities from terminating service for any reason until April 1.

He said the company during a normal February would send out 20,000 termination notices. This year, he said, the company would have sent 40,000 if it weren't for the PUCO order.

Sen. Neal F. Zimmers Jr., D5 Dayton, chairman of the committee hearing testimony on the bill, remains noncommittal about the legislation.

"The concept is fine as a concept," Zimmers said, "but we have to find out if its workable, its impact on the
